MP aims 'donkeys' jibe at ambulance trust bosses

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has launched a scathing attack on senior management of the East of England Ambulance Service Trust, describing frontline staff as "lions being led by donkeys"

Speaking during a parliamentary debate on Tuesday, Mr Halfon said the performance of the under-fire trust continued to be a "huge concern".

He told MPs: "Those worries are not aimed at frontline staff for whom I have nothing but admiration, especially the senior staff and the paramedics in Harlow. They do a tough job and give 100 per cent to their work."

Mr Halfon said EEA, which currently serves six counties, should be broken up so there is just one service covering Essex. He also said the board must take full responsibility for its failures and claimed certain individuals should be sued for legal negligence.

"My postbag is regularly filled with letters from local residents complaining about the service that they have received," he said, adding that almost all complaints were about delays for emergency ambulances.

He highlighted the case of a 97-year-old woman - first reported in the Star - who having received a prompt response from First Responders following a fall then had to wait eight hours for an ambulance.

"It is outrageous that when I have raised constituents' problems with the ambulance service it has taken an unacceptably long time to respond," he said.

He concluded: "With the right management and the right resources, we can deliver some of the best care to my constituents in Harlow, to Essex and throughout the east of England."

When asked whether non-executive board members should resign, Government health minister Anna Soubry said it was a matter for their own consciences.

"I am not normally one to shy away from giving an opinion but I think in this instance it is important ministers don't get involved and don't give an opinion," she said.

Meanwhile, public services union Unison has called on the EEA board to step down following a highly-critical report of the service.

The union, which claims the trust is the "worst performing" in England, wants board members to reconsider their positions in light of the findings of Dr Anthony Marsh, the chief executive of the West Midlands Ambulance Service who was commissioned to write a report because of concerns over the EEA's performance.

Unison branch secretary Gary Applin said: "I want to go forward. However, we are seeing remnants of the old regime still

It's brilliant! Star Trek fan Daniel goes back to the future 12 times

A DEDICATED Star Trek fan has boldly gone where few Harlow filmgoers have gone before - to see the latest film 12 times!

Daniel Sparkes, of Hookfield, Harlow, has been a regular visitor to the town's Cineworld cinema, which has been screening Star Trek: Into Darkness over the past few weeks. Daniel (23) has been a fan of the franchise since childhood when he started watching repeats of the original 1960s television series.

"As a kid it was the sci-fi that drew me in and now that I understand what it means it makes it even more interesting," he said.

"Gene Roddenbury, the show's creator, was portraying a positive future where the whole world is united in discovering and exploring the unknown, and that continues to draw me into the franchise.

"I also like the relationship between Kirk, Spock and McCoy. When Kirk is in turmoil he consults with them.

"I like the contrast between Spock, who is far more logical and reasonable, and McCoy, who is human and talks to Kirk about gut feelings and what's right or wrong."

Daniel's verdict on the latest film is unequivocal.

"I could not ask for anything more from the latest film - it's brilliant," he said.

"When I first heard about the reboot to the franchise I was excited - ecstatic in fact.

"Into Darkness has been executed brilliantly. Benedict Cumberbatch plays his role really well and he has a really strong presence every time he is on screen."

He added: "I have seen the film 12 times at Harlow Cineworld and would have seen it more often if it hadn't been taken off screens.

"Needless to say, I'm a real movie buff and I go to the cinema whenever I can."

Murderer may seek to challenge conviction

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

LAWYERS representing a former nightclub bouncer who was jailed for life after being found guilty of the murder of Harlow mum-of-four Claire Parrish could be set to launch an appeal against his conviction.

Mark Golds (46) was handed a life sentence at Chelmsford Crown Court on June 12 after killing his former partner in a frenzied attack in the bedroom of the couple's home in Copshall Close, Harlow.

The judge ruled that he must serve a minimum term of 15 years before he can even be considered for parole.

Golds, pictured, had pleaded guilty to the manslaughter of 37-year-old Ms

Parrish but denied her murder on the grounds of diminished responsibility.

Yet despite the jury's unanimous decision to convict him of the greater crime, there is now the possibility of Golds's legal team launching an appeal.

No application has yet been lodged with the Court of Appeal, but the indications are that his lawyers believe they have a good case to put before the judges.

If they decide to proceed and are given permission to mount a challenge, the case could be heard within the next year.

If this happens, the Appeal Court could then either uphold the Crown Court's original decision, order a re-trial or cut the length of time Golds must spend in jail before seeking parole.

They could also quash the conviction entirely and free him.

During last month's trial the court was told that victim Ms Parrish bled to death after Golds kicked or stamped on her abdomen during the brutal attack on July 15 last year.

The force of the blow caused her liver to rupture, resulting in massive internal bleeding.

She had also been stabbed and slashed multiple times with a serrated kitchen knife.

The jury heard that Golds - who once worked as a bouncer at Harlow nightclub Liberty's - had a history of psychotic illness and may have flipped after hearing Ms Parrish tell family that he had been violent towards her in the past.

Donkey jibe levelled at ambulance trust chiefs

in place - senior members of the board who are still present.

"I have my reservations about whether they are able to change in the manner that we need to go forward. Our staff know who they feel are culpable. They want a clean slate. Let's get on with it."

Dr Marsh's report, which was published last week, said there was a lack of accountability throughout the organisation. He made 24 specific recommendations, including cutting management costs to pay for more emergency crews.

Dr Marsh said: "The board has set out a transformation plan, which they published in April. We are already seeing some of those improvements being achieved but they now have the opportunity to go to the next level."

The trust said it would review the findings of the report and submit a formal response.

Trust chairman Dr Geoff Harris said: "One of my first priorities is to review the capability and capacity of board leadership at the trust."

"This review must be undertaken in a measured way, based on a proper skills audit of board members to establish the leadership needed to run the trust effectively, as well as skills needed to run services sustainably in the future."

Local councillors should be leading call for action

SIR, I have the greatest sympathy for Yvonne Rautenbach after her nasty fall due to the dilapidated state of our pavements and roads (Letters, June 20).

She rightly blames Essex County Council for not carrying out proper repairs but there are others who should be blamed - Harlow's 33 district councillors and four county councillors.

We elect them to office to look after the welfare of the town's citizens but it appears that they are more concerned with looking after themselves and their political parties.

From the leader of the council to the newest member, they should be touring the wards they represent to check on the way Essex County Council has let our pavements and roads become so dilapidated.

And then they should be banging on the doors of County Hall demanding work be done in return for the enormous payments we make in council tax.

Les Coben
Rectory Wood, Harlow

I have no sympathy for people who buy to let

SIR, I must admit last week's front page headline - "We want our money back" - left me completely and totally unmoved.

In a nutshell, people buying houses just to rent out at an exorbitant level are responsible for house prices staying out of reach of many first-time buyers. Their greed seems to have no end as each house they buy is financed by people desperate for a home, who then can't save for a deposit because the level of rent they are asked to pay makes it impossible.

There was a time when you couldn't get a mortgage to buy a house for love or money, which kept many houses for sale at a rather lower level for new buyers.

In today's nose in the trough mentality I'm glad I'm not in the market to get my foot on the first rung of the housing ladder.

Something should have been done to prevent this

SIR, Further to your report about The Rent Team (Star, June 20), my daughter rented her house out with them. We found they were not doing the regular visits so did not pick up that the tenant had a dog, which was not allowed.

The dog ultimately did a lot of damage to the property.

When the tenant stopped paying rent

READER Jamie Warr, of Rundells, Harlow, sent in this close-up photograph which he said he took walking while walking through the Town Park.

If you have a photo taken in Harlow you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

we discovered references had not been taken up before she was put in the property. I contacted trading standards as the firm's advertisement clearly stated they took up all references. I was told my concerns would be left on file.

We changed agencies as the tenant left owing over £2,000 in rent. Then there were repairs which were not covered by the deposit that had been paid. All we managed to do was to get a county court judgement against the tenant.

Perhaps if something had been done earlier some of these people could have been saved the money which they are now owed.

Glynis Campbell
Tickenhall Drive, Harlow

I can't wait for winter, it's the only time we get peace

SIR, I had to reply to the letter about football nuisance (Letters, June 6).

I live on the Milwards estate... or should I say football stadium? We have a small field at the back of our homes and we have football every single night.

There is shouting, swearing and many times we have had near misses with our windows.

They only have to walk 400 yards and there is a proper football field but no, they would rather make our lives hell.

I hate the summer here. We also get music blaring out all night long. Why do we all have to listen to it?

I won't let my grandchildren play out there.

Roll on the winter; it is the only time we get any peace.

Mr Clarke
Milwards, Harlow

Parked cars leave binmen no choice where to stop

SIR, I cannot believe your reader's complaint about having to wait behind a refuse truck while the men collect the rubbish (Letters, June 20).

In my road the dustmen have no choice but to stop in the middle of the road as cars are parked on both sides all day while the owners travel by train to London.

My dustmen come once a fortnight. If your correspondent knows the day they are coming I suggest they get up five minutes earlier so they will miss them and their daughter will not be late for school.

Perhaps if you gave them a nice smile and a wave instead of complaining they might move over for you.

Come on, it's a dirty job which not many people would like to do. So why not write to the Star about happy things - laugh and the world laughs with you, cry and you cry alone

S. Crook
Hart Road, Harlow

These two stories should give us all food for thought

SIR, I thought it ironic that there were two food stories in close proximity in last week's issue of the Star.

On page four there was a story about the increase in demand by needy people in Harlow for food parcels to help them survive. Then, on page seven, there was a story about a restaurant encouraging competitors to force down huge amounts of food to win an eating challenge.

I know which challenge I will be supporting - the one that helps others and not stuffing one's own belly.

Jan Williams
Old Harlow

There is nothing for the EDL to defend

SIR, The English Defence League may not be aware that St George was Turkish and originally a Moslem.

There is no such thing as a 'pure' race. Remember the Second World War was a battle against Hitler and his concept of an Aryan race. This is dangerous ground.

Please wake up you members of the EDL - there is nothing to defend. All nationalities are equal and valid. Search your own roots and you'll be surprised where you came from.

Hospital care I received at PAH was second to none

SIR, I recently had an operation in the Princess Alexandra Hospital and I would like to thank the surgeon, Mr Abidi and his team for the care and attention plus their kindness.

You hear lots of negative reports of Harlow's hospital but in our experience the care and attention my wife and I received was second to none. Once again thank you all so much.

Harlow Strong march

Dael Grace I didn't march as I saw no point. That is not to say I do not feel for the poor soldier and his family. I totally support the forces and will be forever grateful for their dedication. I do not need to march nor demonstrate to prove this. The risk of this march turning into something less than peaceful was a good reason not to turn out and additionally if I want to pay my respects to the soldier I do not need a demo to do so.

Bev Fennell Poor turnout was probably due to the fact it kept being portrayed as an EDL event (even though it wasn't) - just the association puts people off. It's a real shame that everything slightly supportive of our very honourable and brave armed forces is seen as racist patriotism.

Paul Hartley We marched today for a better future for our children, we marched to honour Lee Rigby and all our fallen soldiers and we marched to show that we will not be influenced by ANY political or religious groups! We did what we set out to achieve and the people that came along stood proudly with us as we conducted the PEACEFUL CHARITY MARCH that we said all along we would achieve! Shame on anyone from Harlow who didn't attend!

SHOW OF SUPPORT: Harlow Council chair Linda Pailing addresses the congregation as the flag is raised

Armed Forces Day flag raised as town pays tribute to troops

HARLOW Council has shown its support for British troops by raising a commemorative flag outside the Civic Centre to mark Armed Forces Day.

In a short service held on Monday morning, new council chair Linda Pailing gave a short address to members of the Royal British Legion, Harlow Royal Naval Association and the Territorial Army as the flag was unfurled.

Town chaplain Reverend Robert Findlay then led the group in a short prayer before the flag was raised as the national anthem played out.

Councillor Pailing told the Star: "It is important that Harlow shows its support to the men and women in the Armed Forces community who represent our country across the world with commitment and dedication.

"Raising the flag shows our support to the brave servicemen and women, both past and present, and recognises the large number of people whose lives are linked to the Armed Forces, including cadets, serving personnel and veterans. "We also paid tribute to those who have lost their lives in conflict."

Harlow is one of many towns and cities across the UK to have already raised commemorative flags ahead of Armed Forces Day, which this year takes place on Saturday, June 29.

Man accused of smuggling cocaine after airport arrest

A HARLOW man has been charged with attempting to smuggle one kilo of cocaine into the UK via Gatwick Airport.

Jason Jackson (21), of Collins Meadow, Harlow, was one of two men arrested by Border Force officers at the airport's South Terminal at 6.40am last Tuesday.

The other suspect - who has also been charged - has been named as 22-year-old Curtis Lee, from Tottenham.

Between them they are suspected of attempting to smuggle an estimated one kilo of cocaine into the UK with a street value of £100,000.

The pair appeared before Uxbridge Magistrates last Wednesday and were remanded in custody.

Chef held in custody on stabbing charge

A CHEF accused of stabbing a man three times outside the Shark pub in Hobtoe Road, Harlow, has been remanded in custody until August 12.

Kamhung Lee (49), of Spring Hills, Harlow, has been charged with inflicting grievous bodily harm with intent and with possessing an offensive weapon in a public place.

Lee is expected to enter pleas to the charges when he returns to court in seven weeks. A bail application was refused by a judge on 6 June.

Tuesday's hearing was adjourned because a Cantonese interpreter was not available.

Council accused of 'criminalising' poor households

A GROUP protesting against Harlow Council's decision to force jobless residents to pay towards their council tax has accused the authority of "criminalising the poor" after it emerged more than 150 people had been hit with court summonses for non-payment of their bill.

Harlow Council Tax Benefit Rebels claim that some hard-up households have been hit so hard they have been forced to choose between paying council tax or paying their food bills - and have urged the authority to rethink its policy.

A group spokesman - calling himself 'Wat Tyler' in reference to the leader of the Peasant's Revolt of 1381 - told the Star: "Harlow Council is demanding money from people who were hitherto deemed to be too poor to pay any council tax.

"Those who paid zero per cent prior to April are now being told to pay 24 percent. Poor householders did not become any better off in the new financial year; in fact, they became poorer, because subsistence benefits were increased by less than the rate of inflation.

"It was inevitable that many would default. Harlow Council has put them into a position in which they must break the law if they are to survive."

Mr Tyler claimed that the recent resignation of councillor Mike Danvers as portfolio holder for resources was evidence of a split in the authority's ruling Labour administration on the issue of council tax.

"Councillor Danvers was known to be unhappy about the imposition of the 24 per cent cut in council tax relief for jobless householders," he said.

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"It's a disgrace that councillors representing a party that was created to guard the interests of ordinary people chose instead to criminalise the poor."

But councillor Tony Durcan, new cabinet portfolio holder for resources and enterprise, said the council had been left with "no choice" but to levy the new charges after the Government drastically slashed funding for the subsidy.

"The council has been forced to take on the responsibility for council tax benefit by the Government but with a £1.3m funding cut," he said.

"The scheme has taken into account the views of local residents. Consultation findings indicated that the majority of the respondents felt that all residents should make some contribution to local services through council tax payments."

He told the Star the council had so far issued a total of 170 court summonses to Harlow households for failing to pay up.

"Out of 3,800 new households paying something towards their council tax, only 170 court summonses have been issued to date," Mr Durcan added.

"This shows that the work the council has been doing to raise awareness of the support and advice available for those in difficulty has really paid off.

"There is still time for people to pay and help and advice is available to those who will genuinely struggle to pay."

WHY CHOOSE AN ELECTRIC BIKE?

ANSMANN

• A chance to get fitter

E-bikes make journeys, especially those involving hills, less daunting than they would be on a conventional bike encouraging more regular use

• Cheap to run

Only costs a few pence to fully charge the battery & every journey you take by bicycle, leaving the car at home, is a huge amount of petrol saved

• Ride further

Electrical assistance will extend the range that you can cycle before you get tired, making it an option for journeys that you might formerly only have considered doing by car

NEWS IN BRIEF

Businesses given brain boost

SMALL and medium-sized businesses across the east of England will be able to access academic expertise thanks to the Low Carbon KEEP programme.

The initiative, which is backed by the European Regional Development Fund and managed by Anglia Ruskin University, has introduced the Innovation Voucher Scheme to help businesses increase profitability, reduce resource consumption and develop new products or services.

For more information about the KEEP programme, call 0845 196 4310.

Residents urged to give blood

NATIONAL Blood Week, held earlier this month, proved to be a huge success with over 500 people in Essex giving blood, making it second only to London for the highest number of donations in the UK.

NHS Blood and Transplant managed to beat their target and sign up almost 11,400 people as donors across the UK.

Forthcoming sessions to donate blood will be held next month at The Latton Bush Centre in Harlow. The first is on July 4 from 1.45pm-7.45pm and the second on July 28 from 9.30am-4pm.

Suzy Stride joins Street Pastors

HARLOW Street Pastors welcomed a new member when Suzy Stride, Labour's Parliamentary hopeful for the town, joined the charity group on patrol in the town centre.

The group of Christian volunteers operate in the town on Friday nights from 10pm-4am, providing water, blankets, a first aid kit and flip-flops to help people in difficulties following a night out.

Ms Stride said: "It was great going out with the street pastors and seeing the fantastic work that they do to promote safety."

Minister's pledge to help Tesco workers

WORK and pensions secretary Iain Duncan Smith has pledged to send a Government "hit-team" to Harlow to support Tesco staff affected by the impending closure of the supermarket chain's distribution centre.

Speaking to the Star during an informal visit to the town to meet with local Conservative party members and residents, the Chingford & Wood Green MP said his department would do "all it could" to help workers facing a choice of redundancy or relocation to the firm's new depot in Dagenham.

"I was very concerned to hear of the difficulties facing staff at the Tesco depot in Harlow," Mr Duncan-Smith said.

"To that end, I will be asking the department to assign a 'hit-team' to Harlow to find out more about how we can help.

"This will involve discussions with Tesco management and liaising with JobCentre Plus specialists to make sure staff are given all the help and support they need to find alternative work, as well as making sure that issues over disability allowances and terms and conditions are properly resolved before workers are relocated."

Mr Duncan-Smith also took the opportunity to defend the Government's recent raft of welfare reforms, which have included the introduction of a benefits cap for working-age claimants, changes to the disability allowance and a new single-room subsidy - branded the "bedroom tax" by Labour.

"These reforms are needed to make the benefits system fairer for everyone," he told the Star.

"It cannot be right that some people are better off claiming benefits than working.

"These changes will help address this problem by encouraging more people back into work - and by making sure that work always pays."

Live grenade discovered in recycling

ESSEX County Council has issued a safety warning after a resident recycled a live hand grenade.

County Councillor Roger Walters, cabinet member for waste and recycling, said: "We encourage residents to recycle as much as they can, however it appears someone was bit too keen on this occasion!"

"There are lots of different items you can bring to our recycling centres, but if you are ever unsure please check with us before setting out."

The shocking discovery was made by a member of staff in a waste metal container at the recycling centre on Pitsea Hall Lane, Basildon, at around midday on Sunday (June 23).

Staff reacted quickly, calling the police and evacuating the centre immediately, directing residents to other centres nearby. A bomb disposal unit removed the grenade from the site, and destroyed it via a controlled detonation.

The centre was re-opened to the public at around 2.20pm.

Harlow Strong pro by anti-racism cou

THE organiser of a charity march in memory of murdered soldier Lee Rigby has spoken of his "disappointment" after less than 30 people - many of them young children - took part in Sunday's event.

Leo Hartley had expected hundreds to join the Harlow Strong rally - which he had billed as a peaceful march "to protest against all forms of extremism" - but in the end only 28 people turned up.

Set up under the banner of the Woolwich Strong movement, which has come under fire from anti-racism groups for having links with far-right organisations including the English Defence League, the march was one of more than 20 taking place across the UK and had been described as "the event of the decade" by organisers.

But ultimately it was dwarfed in Harlow both by the high police presence and the number of people attending a counter-demonstration by the Harlow branch of Unite Against Fascism.

CHRIS MOSSchris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

"It's obviously a disappointing turnout but I'm still proud of everyone who came out and showed their support," Mr Hartley told the Star. "Although there were not as many people as I had hoped for, those who came stood strong together."

"We have also had a lot of messages of support from those who were unable to make it and the positive response from people driving past as we marched through Harlow was encouraging."

Escorted by police officers, the group - which included at least two members of the EDL - set off from Harlow Civic Centre at noon and marched through the town centre before heading towards the Netteswell War Memorial in School Lane.

While in Broad Walk they passed the counter-demo set up by the UAF, whose members had expressed concerns that the Harlow march would attract "undesireable" attention from extreme right-wing organisations.

Billed as a "multi-culturalism festival", the UAF event had attracted significantly more public interest than the march, with around 100 people gathered in The High as the Harlow Strong marchers walked past.

Yet with the exception of a few verbal exchanges, the potential flashpoint passed without incident and the marchers continued on their route to the Town Park where they observed a two-minute silence before laying a wreath in memory of Drummer Lee Rigby.

"It may have been a smaller event than we had hoped for but the important thing is that, nationally, we have sent a clear message that extremism and terrorism will not be tolerated by the people of Great Britain, regardless of their race, religion or politics," Mr Hartley added.

Asked why he thought so few people had turned out, he said test march eclipsed inter-demonstration

"political pressure and misinformation" had put many off joining the march, which local anti-racism campaigners and trade unionists had branded as a front for the EDL.

"There has been a certain amount of scaremongering and misunderstanding and I think this will have made some people too scared to show their support," Mr Hartley said.

"This event was open to anyone who wanted to show their respect to our troops. Regardless of their political beliefs, everyone who marched today respected our request that they leave their political agendas at home to march peacefully and with dignity."

"I have always said that this would be a peaceful, non-political and family-friendly event and I was proved right."

Despite the turnout Mr Hartley said he hoped to make the march an annual event.

"Extremism and terrorism are not going to disappear overnight," he added. "Hopefully next year we will have a better turnout now that people have seen we are a peaceful, non-political group."

A UAF spokesman told the Star his group was "thrilled" with the success of its mini-festival, which had been arranged in partnership with local charity Integration Support Services.

"It was a complete vindication for us and shows that we got our tactics right," he said.

"What people don't realise is that we met Muslims and ethnic minorities in the days leading up to the march who told us they would not be leaving their houses on Sunday."

"We also learned of a number of racist and Islamophobic attacks that aren't being reported."

"We had to show these people that they had nothing to fear and that street thugs like the EDL are in the minority - that most people want to get on with their lives and live in peace and harmony, regardless of their race or religion".

The event began with a minute's silence for Lee Rigby and other victims of alleged hate crimes, including Mohammed Saleem, a 75-year-old Muslim who was stabbed to death on the streets of Birmingham earlier this year.

Among those attending were members of the Harlow Islamic Centre, local councillors and Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who also gave a short speech.

Speaking to the Star afterwards, he said: "I was pleased to support and attend the multiculturalism festival. What makes Harlow strong is its sense of tolerance and decency and its support for diverse communities."

"I was very pleased to be there and the festival was yet another example of why Harlow is such a special place to live and be a part of - a place where fairness and kindness triumphs over intolerance."

NURSES from the inpatient unit at St Clare Hospice are often thought of as angels - and this week they earned their pink wings by drumming up support for the Midnight Walk.

With just over a week to go to the popular fundraiser, everyone at the Hastingwood hospice is doing their bit to encourage as many people as possible to sign up and take part in either the 5k or 10k walk next Saturday (July 6).

And no-one knows better than the nursing staff just how important it is that as many people as possible take part to reach this year's target of £75,000.

That would be enough to keep the eight-bed inpatient unit running for 19 days.

Unit manager Beth Burton, who will be acting as a marshall on the big night, said: "If everyone taking part in next Saturday's walks raised £100, that would provide five hours of care for a patient in our unit, while £162 would pay for the entire unit to be run for one hour. So every pound that someone raises is absolutely vital because it means so much to the patients and their families that we care for here."

Hundreds of people have already registered for the Midnight Walk - which is once again supported by the Star - either as individuals or in groups of families, work colleagues or friends.

For many, it is a chance to remember loved ones who were cared for at the hospice and to give thanks for the support they received during difficult times. Among those walking this year are:

- Marie Merritt, from Fir Park, Harlow, taking part in her fifth Midnight Walk with a group of friends.
- Teaching assistant Theresa McKeown, from Great Plumtree, Harlow, who is taking part in her sixth walk with sister Caroline McKeown and friends Julie Dickson and Ann Buck.
- 16-year-old Megan Serdet and 22 of her friends and family

THE Midnight Walk takes place on Saturday, July 6, starting and finishing in The Water Gardens car park (outside Asda) in Harlow town centre.

The walk will start at 10.30pm and this year there is a choice of two distances - 5km and 10km.

But there will be plenty going on before the official start. You can have your face painted in shocking pink designs, buy pink angel wings and bunny ears and even take part in a Zumba warm-up.

Online registration to take part closes tomorrow (Friday) and costs £15 per individual. Visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk/midnight.html for full details and the online registration form.

However, you can still register to take part on the night for £20. Registration begins at 8.30pm.

in memory of her great nan, June Dyson.

• Sian Cooper, of Church Mill Grange, Harlow, and her mum Julie, taking part in memory of her grandparents Nigel and June Cooper.

• Georgie Beck (21), whose poignant story about how her mum, Tracy, was cared for at St Clare inspired hundreds of others to take part when it was featured in the Star.

As well as the inpatient unit, St Clare provides day therapy services and has a team of specialist palliative care nurses who work in the community, visiting people in their homes.

Running costs are currently

£2.8m, of which less than one third comes from the NHS. The rest is from supporters through fundraising events like the Midnight Walk, the hospice's seven shops and individual bequests in wills, trusts and legacies.

Grace Malek, events fundraiser for St Clare, said this week: "We're busy putting all the finishing touches to the Midnight Walk, including the goody bags which every walker gets on the night."

"We're also looking for more marshals to guide the way for walkers on the night, so please get in touch if you can help in this way."

COMMUNITY NEWS

TRIBUTE:
Gina Willison shows off her shorn locks after the sponsored head shave in memory of her cousin, Robert Foster

Gina's hair-raising tribute to soldier cousin

THE cousin of a Harlow soldier killed in Afghanistan has raised almost £650 for Help For Heroes after shaving her head for charity. Gina Willison, of River Mill, lost 19-year-old cousin Robert Foster in 2007 when he was killed alongside two comrades in a tragic "friendly fire" incident. The 21-year-old said she wanted to pay tribute to his sacrifice - and has so far managed to raise £620 after having her 24-inch tresses trimmed.

She said: "Robert would think I was crazy for doing this, but it would be the sort of thing that he would have loved."

"The support has been phenomenal, way beyond anything I ever could have imagined. I've even had a family member keep a money tin by her front door, asking all visitors to put change in.

"Everything has just been so incredible, and I couldn't have come this far without them all."

Gina now plans to donate her locks to the Little Princess Trust, a charity providing wigs for children who have lost their hair through illness.

To sponsor Gina, log on to www.justgiving.com/Gina-Willison.

Mum's fundraiser for children's ward

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

A GRATEFUL mum has hosted a fundraiser to thank at staff at Princess Alexandra Hospital for saving her baby son's life.

Ami Mekni (31) gave birth to Hugo six weeks prematurely. After a few days of ill health, she called her health visitor and was quickly referred to PAH's casualty department.

"During routine observations in A&E Hugo stopped breathing," said businesswoman Ami. "It was the most terrifying moment of my life to see my baby lifeless."

"The doctors called for help and between them they resuscitated him. This happened several times. Once he was stable enough on the C-PAP machine [to help with breathing] they took us to Dolphin Ward."

Hugo had several more attacks of apnoea - a breathing disorder that makes the lungs ineffective.

Ami said: "The doctors and nurses, who are used to ventilating adults, sedated and successfully ventilated my son making him stable. "PAH staff did their job quickly and without fault. They were an amazing support to my husband and I."

Hugo was transferred to Great Ormond Street Hospital

GRATEFUL: Ami Mekni with Hugo, whose life was saved by PAH staff

where he underwent a brain scan, lumbar puncture and various blood tests and X-rays. He was found to have an infection which made it difficult for his lungs to work.

Ami said: "Due to PAH's quick work, Hugo went from strength to strength and managed to come off the ventilator a few days later. "He is now home and doing really well so I started to think of how I could possibly thank the staff at PAH for saving my son's life. Saying a million 'thank yous' just didn't feel enough!"

"I arranged with the help of Jean Hide, the leader of Toddle Along, to hold a fundraiser to raise money for PAH's Dolphin Ward and Great Ormond Street Hospital."

Eden Hairdressers and The Potters Arms pub gave Ami vouchers to add to her raffle prizes, while other mums at the playgroup rallied together to buy more gifts.

"We baked cakes to sell, painted faces and were even given a bouncy castle for the morning free of charge from GFC Leisure," Ami added. "We raised £250 and had a brilliant morning. I am eternally grateful to all the staff who took care of Hugo."

Phone auction to help hospice

TWO long-time supporters of St Clare Hospice are holding another fundraising event.

Jean and Dave Roberts, who host an annual dinner and dance and recently raised £150 by inviting bids for a football signed by Manchester United players, have started another phone auction.

A voucher for the use of a top-of-the-range BMW X6 for a weekend is now up for grabs thanks to Elms of Stansted BMW, who are offering the hire prize.

Organiser Jean said: "I was very grateful for the success of the Manchester United football which raised £150 and we're hoping this prize will raise even more cash."

To place a bid for the BMW, call (01279) 434291.

Cash for cancer with zumbathon

A SPONSORED zumbathon session has raised more than £450 for cancer services at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Zumba instructor Rochele Gregory, who holds classes in Harlow and Epping, organised the fundraising event in aid of PAH and managed to raise £471 through sponsorship.

Rochele said: "I want to thank everyone who came and took part on the day of the zumbathon. We managed to raise £471 which is a fantastic amount."

"The day was very touching but great fun and we have helped a fantastic cause."

Rochele holds weekly zumba classes at Passmores Academy and the Latton Bush Centre. To sign up, call 07817 612786.

St John's offers first aid training

ST John Ambulance is encouraging teachers and school staff across Essex to learn life-saving first aid during their training days as the summer allergy season arrives.

The group's first aid training course allows schools to customise training from a list of modules including severe allergic reaction, asthma and common injuries or medical conditions.

The course also includes information on key subjects such as the first aider role, bleeding, resuscitation, choking and dealing with an unconscious casualty.

For more information call 0844 324 5535.

Lottery winner

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, June 21 was ticketholder 554823, who lives in Harlow.

RIGHTS&ADVICE

Information from Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice

Important changes for people claiming disability benefit

IT is now it is no longer possible for people aged 16-64 to claim Disability Living Allowance (DLA). Instead they must claim the new disability benefit called Personal Independence Payment (PIP).

From October for existing working age claimants of DLA there will be no change until their current award comes to an end or they ask for their claim to be looked at again due to a change in their condition.

From 2015, those still on DLA who have no changes in their condition and have not come to the end of an award will be contacted by the Department of Works and Pensions.

PIP, like DLA, is not affected by any income or capital you have. It is not based on national insurance contributions and does not count as a taxable income.

There are still two components - daily living (which replaces care

Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice will be running a session offering advice on benefit and debt outside the Advice Centre next Wednesday (July 3) from 10am-2pm.

Alternatively, HWRA can offer appointments in relation to benefits for people with health problems or disabilities and in relation to debt irrespective of health status.

Appointments can be made by calling (01279) 704002.

under DLA) and a mobility component. Each component has two rates, standard and enhanced. There is no equivalent to the low rate care component paid with

DLA. Entitlement to PIP is assessed on a points basis similar to that used to assess Employment and Support Allowance. Points will be awarded from descriptors relating to activities of daily living and/or mobility.

A score of eight points will give rise to an award of the standard rate of PIP, whereas a score of 12 will give rise to an award of the enhanced rate. Most claimants will be required to attend a face-to-face medical assessment.

The Government suggests that the new system will be fairer and will target those most in need. Some people will benefit from the new scheme, but for others the outlook is not so positive and they may not be awarded PIP, either on a new claim or on renewal or if they ask for a reassessment.

It is, therefore, very important that people seek advice, particularly if they are considering asking for their claim to be looked at again.

Tablet lets ITU patients 'talk' to nursing staff

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital is using new technology to help patients in the intensive care unit communicate with staff.

The Harlow hospital has purchased an iPad with money donated from ongoing fundraising events. The tablet will stay in the ICU to help patients in the Critical Care Department inform nursing staff about their condition, ask questions and keep an active role in their treatment and care.

One of the first to use the iPad was Emma Colcott (27), who was diagnosed with Wilson's Disease, a rare genetic disorder which can cause serious illness from copper poisoning that attacks the liver and brain.

Using the tablet to communicate, Miss Colcott said: "I was diagnosed in Milton Keynes and referred to the Royal Free Hospital where I spent a week for tests. "I was discharged but then my condition deteriorated. I kept losing my balance and falling, my speech became slurred and I stopped talking."

Of the iPad, she added: "It is much easier to use than a phone, the layout is nice and easy. The iPad is my only way of communicating."

Senior sister Sarah Jones added: "Emma had only been able to communicate 'yes' or 'no' while she was in the ITU at PAH but at home she uses electronic equipment to make herself understood.

"Now that we have purchased our own IT equipment, Emma has been able to communicate with doctors, nurses, physios and other staff, allowing her to ask questions about her illness and have a say in her own care - for example if she is too hot or cold or if she is having pains.

"Most of our patients will be unable to communicate due to being on a ventilator or will have a tracheotomy - a tube in the throat to aid breathing. The IT equipment will address the frustration patients have at not being able to talk and alleviate a lot of psychological issues they can have following a critical illness."

Sister Jones added: "Emma communicates by using the notes page. However she has used an app which we have now put on our iPad which uses pictures and pre-written sentences. This will be easier for other patients who are unable to type or whose co-ordination is not as good as Emma's and can only press on the picture or sentence they wish to say.

"We have also downloaded books for patients to read and hope to be able to add newspapers, music and games like sudoku and crossword puzzles."

Currently the ITU has one iPad, which is shared between the patients to use as and when they need. Sister Jones added: "Our IT equipment was purchased through fundraising money and though at present we have only the one we hope to purchase more with money raised from our ongoing fundraising.

"Anyone is free to hold their own fundraising event to help raise money for the intensive care unit or to make a donation.

"People can support one of our forthcoming events, too. We have a sponsored walk in September and our annual charity ball is in early November, where everyone is welcome to join us."

For more information about fundraising events or to make a donation to the ITU, contact either Sarah Jones at sarah.jones1@pah.nhs.uk or Claire McClements at claire.mcclements@pah.nhs.uk. Alternatively, call (01279) 827904 or (01279) 827006.

Woman claims cannabis grew from seeds left behind in pots after police raid

A WOMAN who admitted growing cannabis on the balcony of her home in Harlow told a court that the police were to blame.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told that eagle-eyed officers spotted the plants a few months after Emma Franks (33) had received a caution for growing the drug.

But Franks, of Brockles Mead, claimed the plants they found when they returned on June 7 on an unrelated matter had "self-seeded" from seeds the police left in the pots after their previous visit.

Her solicitor, Stuart Cooper, told the court that in March police confiscated two plants but left the pots. "The seeds left simply started growing again," he said. "She didn't do anything about it. There was no equipment to help; they were just left open to the weather."

He added that Franks had been trying cannabis to help her sleep after cutting down on her heavy drinking.

Franks was given a 12-month conditional discharge and ordered to pay £65 in legal costs by magistrates, who said they did not accept her defence.

Chairman of the bench Malcolm Bell told her: "We don't really buy the story that, having taken the plants out of the pot, they started to grow again."

Website warning

PLANNED and essential maintenance is likely to mean our harlowstar.co.uk website will be down for a short period this weekend.

The work will require taking the sites offline with this likely to fall somewhere between 9 and 11am on Sunday. The aim is to keep the duration of downtime to a minimum, and we apologise in advance for this interruption to your online service.

Jail for man whose plans to propose ended with arrest

A MAN who headed for the Harlow home of his ex-girlfriend to propose marriage lost his temper after he arrived to find her with someone else, a court heard.

Andy Thomas (30) waved a knife with a 10-inch blade from side to side through the letterbox at the home of his on-off girlfriend after arriving and seeing her inside wrapped in a blanket and another man in the house.

On Monday Thomas, of Brentwood, was jailed for a year after pleading guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to charges of having a bladed article, causing criminal damage and harassment.

The court was told that before going to the house in Fuller's Mead and with his proposal in mind, Thomas had put a deposit on a ring. But the plan collapsed after he arrived.

Mark Lakin, prosecuting, said: "His ex-partner had found his behaviour controlling and after a number of attempts split up. He threatened to kill himself."

Mr Lakin continued: "On October 3 she was in the lounge where she slept when there was a knock on the door and Thomas was asking for her to open it. Her new partner went to make tea in the kitchen.

"Thomas, then at the back door, shouted 'Do you think you're clever? You're with my Mrs.'"

"Half an hour later he returned having been sitting on a wall and was hitting the front door with some force, determined to get in and waving the kitchen knife through the letter box."

"Having seen her just get out of bed and a man on the premises he was getting even more angry, hitting the door even harder and shouting: 'Let me in or I'm going to fing do you.'"

Gavin Burrell, representing Thomas, said in mitigation: "He believed he was in an on-off relationship and that morning had paid a deposit on a ring with the intention of going there to propose."

"He believed they were keeping themselves for each other but at the address he saw another male. He used the kitchen knife to gain attention; there was no intention to cause harm."

In addition to the jail sentence he was also ordered to pay a £100 victim surcharge.

Memorial to the innocents to be unveiled at Harlow school

A PERMANENT memorial to the mother and five children killed in an arson attack in Barn Mead will be officially unveiled on Monday at the Harlow school where three of the young victims were pupils.

Mum Sabah Usmani (44) and children Hira (12), Sohaib (11), Muneeb (9), Rayyan (6) and Maheen (3) all lost their lives after fire ripped through their end-of-terrace home in the early hours of October 15.

But their names will live on thanks to the tireless fundraising efforts of Harlow couple Neil and Donna Betteridge, who have managed to raise an astonishing £26,000 to pay for the installation of lasting memorials to the family in the grounds of Abbotsweld School.

Cab driver Neil told the Star: "We're absolutely overwhelmed by the response we've had from the county council, local businesses and Harlow residents."

"What started out as a simple raffle to raise money has snowballed into a huge fundraising drive."

Five memorial benches - each inscribed with the name of one of the young victims - and a canopy representing their mother have already been installed in the playground, alongside a £12,000 'jungle gym' donated by

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Hampshire-based play equipment firm Fawns.

And next door, in the grounds of Abbotsweld Infants, a complete overhaul of the playground is almost complete, featuring upgraded play equipment, soft play grounding and a separate memorial bench dedicated to six-year-old Rayyan.

Abbotsweld headteacher Lesley Lynn said the memorials would be a "fitting tribute to a lovely family".

"We're absolutely flabbergasted at the amount of money that has been raised," she said.

"It has obviously been a very difficult year for everyone at the school, so we're very grateful to Neil and Donna and the Friends of Abbotsweld School for helping to raise the money needed for this wonderful memorial."

"Monday will be a very emotional day, but hopefully it will give some sense of closure and allow everyone at the school to remember a lovely, lovely family."

The children's father, sole blaze survivor Dr Abdul Shakoor, will be attending the unveiling to thank fundraisers for their efforts.

The ceremony is expected to begin at around 2pm.

Silver celebration for jobs agency

AN independent recruitment agency is toasting its ongoing success after celebrating its landmark 25th anniversary. Top-Flight Personnel Services Ltd, based in Adams House, Harlow, opened in 1988 and specialises in permanent and temporary recruitment in the office and industrial sectors.

Managing director Val Minchella said she was "immensely proud" of her company's achievements - and attributes TFP's continuing success to the fact the company has remained independent as a one-office operation based in Harlow. "Because we are not part of a large chain we have greater flexibility, and our on-going local presence gives us the opportunity to build a

NOSTALGIAAlways an excuse for a party in town

MOVING to a New Town will have been a daunting prospect for many - but that's not to say Harlow's first residents needed much of an excuse to have a party.

This wonderful photograph was taken at a children's Christmas party during the town's early days.

A handwritten note on the back of the picture states that Mr A. Morton is the gentleman being splatted by the custard pie, much to the delight of the youngsters around him. But not much else is known about the picture.

In the early years of the New Town, sports teams and community groups held regular events and socials packed full of live music, dancing and games for adults and children alike.

Many residents found the social events a great way of keeping in touch with old friends from London and meeting new neighbours - as well as helping to build a strong community spirit across the town.

Do you recognise yourself in the photo? Or perhaps you remember the children's Christmas parties in the 1960s and 1970s? If so, send in your pictures and stories to Nostalgia at 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW, email star@hertsessexnews.co.uk or call (01279) 400577.

Crash claimed the lives of chairman and his wife*BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Council is often making headlines but not many can compare to the tragic events of 1962 when the chairman of the authority and his wife were killed in a car accident.

Cllr Gordon Marriot JP and his wife Lydia were travelling to Newcastle on March 29, 1962 along with managing editor Trevor Davies of the Harlow Citizen and carnival queen Sandra Holmes to board the ferry for a civic visit to Harlow's twin town of Stavanger in Norway.

But their journey was to end in tragedy when the car driven by Mr Davies collided with a lorry and three other cars on the A1. Mrs Marriot was killed instantly and her husband died in hospital three days later.

Both Mr Davies and Ms Holmes sustained serious injuries.

An inquest into Mr Marriot's death was told he never regained consciousness after the crash and recorded the cause of death as a "laceration of the brain".

The crash was reported in the local press at the time. Local historian Ron Bill bought several newspaper cuttings to show Nostalgia.

"It was a very sad, very tragic incident," he said. "Gordon was well-liked and it was a very sad time for the council and for Harlow."

The funerals of Mr and Mrs Marriot took place in April 1962 at Trinity Presbyterian Church. Hundreds of mourners turned out to pay their respect.

Mr Marriot first became a Harlow councillor in 1956. He was re-elected in 1960 and served the town until his death. At a council meeting two days before his funeral, the council stated: "The council records its profound sorrow for the tragic deaths in a road accident of its chairman, Cllr Gordon Bertram Marriot, and his wife Lydia, who died as they lived in the service of the community when on a mission of international goodwill."

Tributes to the couple, who were survived by 15-year-old son Philip, poured in from Harlow residents as well as neighbouring counties, boroughs and twin town Stavanger. Vice-chairman of Harlow Council, Cllr R.W. Dallas, was elected as chairman for the remainder of the year.

The Marriots' son was given permission by his family to live with Dr Herbert Bach and his wife so that he could continue his studies. He later became a local GP, retiring in 2011 at the age of 64.

In Mr Bill's book A Civic History of Harlow Council 1955-1985, he adds: "Gordon was a hugely popular individual, for several years Labour Party agent and later councillor, and we all felt that with his death we had lost a personal friend."

•Do you remember Cllr Marriot during his time on Harlow Council? If you do, or you have other memories and photographs of Harlow over the past 50 years, contact Nostalgia on (01279) 400577, email star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

A luxury vacation for pampered pooches

PAMPERED pooches can now enjoy the holiday of a lifetime at a luxury retreat for dogs on the north Somerset coast. Four-legged guests at the barking mad Paw Seasons resort can enjoy a pampering session at the on-site spa, a reiki masterclass and their own private suite with all mod-cons. Features include a screen showing films such as Lassie and 101 Dalmatians, with dog-friendly popcorn to chew on. Outdoor activities include surfing lessons and a run along the beach, while spa and grooming sessions involve an aromatherapy bath and body massage, a wash and fluff dry and a pedicure. Dogs will even get their own wardrobe, dressing nose to tail in designer collars, leads and macs. Although owners are not allowed on the holiday in Long Ashton, near Bristol, Paw Seasons staff promise to upload holiday snaps and videos via Facebook and YouTube. But all this luxury comes at a price - with the ultimate two-week break costing a whopping £47,000!

Rock and soul on the menu for new choir

SONGBIRDS looking to spread their wings and develop their skills are being invited to join a recently-formed community choir.

The brainchild of Harlow College music teacher Sarah Wiggins, Harlow Community Choir is open to everyone aged 18-and-upwards - regardless of their experience or ability.

With an emphasis on fun and creativity, the group's repertoire includes everything from rock'n'roll to funk and soul - and suggestions from new members are always welcome.

"If you've always fancied singing in a choir but think you're not 'good enough' or that you're 'tone deaf', this is the choir for you," Sarah told the Star.

"The emphasis is firmly on having fun and making music in the process."

The group meets every Wednesday evening during term-time at the Women's Institute Hall in Old Harlow.

>>>For more information about the choir, or to sign up, send an email to swiggins@harlow-college.ac.uk or call 07503 918030.

Rocking on: The Square is here to stay

FIVE years on from its re-emergence as the region's number one live music venue, The Square is in the mood to party - and you're all invited.

Ever since shaking off the shackles of county council bureaucracy on - fittingly - July 4, 2008, the Fourth Avenue club has gone from strength to strength, hosting gigs from acts as diverse as former teenage dirtbags Wheatus (remember them?), easy-skanking ska legends The Beat and fire and brimstone rock'n'rollers The Jim Jones Revue.

Now, as the venue approaches its fifth re-birthday next weekend, it's preparing to host another rock legend in former New York Dolls hellraiser Sylvain Sylvain - and for promoter and venue co-manager Adam Smith, it's a match made in rock'n'roll heaven.

"To be able to get someone the calibre of Sylvain Sylvain for our birthday weekend is great," he said.

CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"We've never been scared to go after the big names, and we've had some great nights here over the past five years - hopefully, we'll have many more."

Keeping The Square going has been a five-year labour of love for Adam and SquareOne co-managers Richard Holgarth, Steve Harcourt and Chris Gilham (pictured above), all of whom have had to juggle busy day jobs with running the venue.

"These five years have flown by, but it has been tough at times," he said.

"I'm not going to lie - there have been moments when we've doubted ourselves, but when the place is packed out and you can see how much it means to people it makes it all worthwhile."

The venue's future was given a huge boost earlier this year after building owners Circle Housing Group offered SquareOne a ten-year extension to their lease, with the additional promise of cash towards a refurbishment of the iconic building's exterior.

"Before, there were always questions hanging over the venue's long-term future, but this has given us the security and freedom to push things forward," Adam added.

"We wouldn't have got to where we are today if it wasn't for the people coming through the door, and they're the ones who can make sure we're here for many more years to come."

"It's still very much a case of 'use it or lose it' - it's been a great five years, but we're in it for the long haul."

>>>The Square's birthday weekend begins with a disco and soul night featuring a live set from Uncle Funk on Friday, July 5, followed by Sylvain Sylvain and Ed Tudor Pole on the Saturday. Tickets for each night cost £12 (£20 weekend) from www.thesquareharlow.com.

Moot House Players reveal guilty secret

AN edge-of-your-seat crime thriller packed full of intrigue and suspense will bring the curtain down on am-dram group Moot House Players' current season next month.

Harlow's longest-running am-dram group has turned to newly-published play Guilty Secret by Roger Mortimer-Smith as its final production of the summer - and it promises to be a real nail-biter.

The plot revolves around two East End chancers, George and Lennie, who kidnap a wealthy heiress and take her to a remote farmhouse.

George is confident her father will pay £5m for her safe return, but Lennie becomes suspicious of his intentions when he discovers the safehouse has been rented in his name.

Suspecting that George plans to double-cross him, frame him for the crime and keep the ransom for himself, Lennie is faced with a life-or-death dilemma as he tries to work out who is really behind the kidnap before it is too late.

The production features three Moot House regulars - Dan Powell, who also directs, Kerry Rowland and Michael Rees - plus newcomer Matt Hunt, a Harlow College Performing Arts student, as slow-witted Lennie.

It will be the second time in the director's chair for Dan, who is also one of the Players' youngest members.

He said: "Moot House Players may have been running for 60 years now, but we are always looking to get younger people involved with our productions and to encourage students like Matt to take part, both as performers and in a backstage capacity."

>>>Guilty Secret will be staged at Moot Hall, The Stow, from July 11-13 at 8pm. Tickets cost £8 (£6 conc) and are available from (01279) 639170.

Defending your garden

THE other day, I wandered up the garden to find that some of my favourite emerging phlox had been razed to the ground, devoured by something which left just the stems at ground level.

Rabbits? Could be. But no, the next day the culprit returned for second helpings – a large black cat with a penchant for perennials, so now I'm keeping a powerful water pistol by my patio door to scare off any such intruders.

Indeed, one man's pet is another man's pest so it's useful to know how to control them.

And it is often a matter of trial and error. What works for one gardener may be of no value to another. The only real deterrent may be a 6ft fence all the way around your garden, buried about 45cm (18in) into the soil so rabbits and other tunnelling creatures have less of a chance of penetrating your boundaries.

However, fences can be expensive and are often not easy to erect if you have mature shrubs and trees growing on your boundary line, so here's a few solutions you might try to deter some of the nuisance animals into your garden.

- Cats: There are a number of battery-operated deterrents on the market which, when switched on, pick up movement with an infra-red detector and then emit ultrasonic, high-pitched frequencies that reputedly scare off the culprits. They are not audible to humans and the usual range is about 10m (33ft) over an arc of 70 degrees.

Another solution is to put down citrus peelings or lemon scent where the cats are causing the damage, or prickly prunings around their favourite plants.

They are less likely to use your garden as a litter tray if they have no access to bare soil – especially dry, loose soil. Try growing the annual Coleus Canina, labelled as the 'Scaredy Cat Plant', a pretty blue-flowered annual which smells foul to cats. It's widely available online.

- Rabbits: These fast-breeding mammals can cause massive damage to vegetables and flowers and are a particular problem in rural areas.

The only real defence is a rabbit-proof fence buried around 45cm (18in) into the soil and about 1m (3ft) high. You could also try growing plants which rabbits don't like, such as very aromatic plants, plants that ooze caustic milky sap, prickly plants, plants with spines or plants with tough leathery leaves. These include astilbe, berberis, agapanthus, nicotiana, hydrangea, geranium, euphorbia, hypericum, helenium,

ON THE WEB

Gardening tips and news

www.harlowstar.co.uk

rudbeckia and phormium, but there are many more. Be warned, though, if they are hungry, rabbits will eat anything.

- Squirrels: The scourge of bird-lovers nationwide, squirrels will steal bird food from any receptacle it can get to, but there are now a lot of squirrel-proof feeders on the market to deter them. They can also damage plants, as they eat bulbs, shoot tips and flower buds, as well as stripping the bark from trees.

The only effective protection is to secure net-covered cages for groups of plants and individual tree guards to stop them stripping the bark.

- Foxes: They can dig up clumps of your lawn, flower beds and vegetable plots, but alas there's not much you can do about foxes. Avoid using fertilisers such as blood, fish and bone, which will attract them to the smell.

Go to a zoo and speak to the keepers about getting some lion urine, which apparently foxes hate because of the smell.

Sprinkle it over the entrance to and exit from their run and you may deter them.

- Muntjac: These nuisance deer, natives of southeast Asia, strip rose bushes of buds, chew their way through shrubs and perennials and are territorial, so tend to return.

Aside from putting a 6ft fence around your garden, you could try growing plants they're not so keen on, including camellia, cistus, hellebore, hosta, hydrangea, lavender, poppies and sedum.

If you want to preserve the balance of nature, you could grow alternative food for the deer, allowing an area at the end of your garden to be devoted to brambles, rowan, dandelion, campion and yarrow. Hopefully they will prefer these to your roses.

Minions steal the show in Gru's slapstick sequel

DESPICABLE ME 2 (3D & 2D) certificate U, 1h38m

WORKING to the principle that you don't mess with a winning formula, directors Pierre Coffin and Chris Renaud deliver more thrills and slapstick spills in the action-packed sequel to their delightful 2010 computer-animated adventure.

While Despicable Me 2 doesn't quite attain the dizzy heights of the original and lacks some of the heart-tugging emotion and warmth that epitomised Gru's journey from cackling archvillain to surrogate father, young audiences won't care a jot because the action sequences are bigger and the humour is just as silly.

The screenwriters have realised that the Minions are the star attraction, scene-stealing with googly-eyed gusto, so the diminutive yellow sidekicks are pushed squarely to the fore in the second madcap mission. They are firmly embedded in the main plot, almost elbowing Gru and his girls into the shadows.

Despicable Me 2 begins shortly after events of the original with Gru (voiced by Steve Carell) living in unconventional domestic bliss with his girls Margo (Miranda Cosgrove), Edith (Dana Gaier) and Agnes (Elsie Fisher). Having turned his back on skulduggery, he now devotes his subterranean bunker to the production of jams and jellies under the supervision of Dr Nefario (Russell Brand).

harlowstar.co.uk/Whats-On-Leisure/Competitions

When a new threat to global peace emerges, Lucy Wilde (Kristen Wiig) from The Anti-Villain League stuns Gru with her lipstick taser and pressgangs him into working for the good guys to uncover the mastermind responsible for the theft of a top secret serum.

The trail leads to a local mall where Gru and Lucy pose as co-owners of a cupcake shop in order to spy on two prime suspects: Floyd (Ken Jeong), the beautifully coiffed owner of the wig store, and Eduardo (Benjamin Bratt), manager of the popular Mexican restaurant.

Despicable Me 2 inspires a few paternal oohs and aahs as Gru navigates the road bumps of parenthood, including a last-minute crisis at little Agnes' birthday party. The romantic subplot between the supposedly unlovable reformed villain and Lucy is predictable but sweet and the rest of the script follows a similarly linear trajectory.

But the reliance on the Minions for almost every snigger and guffaw is noticeable and their charm starts to wear thin during the end credits, which shamelessly plugs the standalone Minions movie planned for next year.

Perhaps you can have too much of a good thing. Only time will tell.

WORLD WAR Z (3D & 2D) Gerry Lane (Brad Pitt) is a retired United Nations investigator who devotes his time to his wife Karin (Mireille Enos) and daughters Constance (Sterling Jerins) and Rachel (Abigail Hargrove). During a drive through Philadelphia, the Lanes witness the spread of a disease which transforms men, women and children into merciless predators with a single bite. Gerry's old boss at the UN, Thierry Umutoni (Fana Mokoena), guarantees Karin, Constance and Rachel passage on an aircraft carrier if Gerry will agree to travel behind enemy lines to discover the source of the outbreak.

MAN OF STEEL (3D & 2D) When planet Krypton faces destruction, Jor-El (Russell Crowe) sends his son to Earth in the hope the child will be spared. The infant is adopted and raised by farmers Jonathan and Martha Kent (Kevin Costner, Diane Lane), who christen the boy Clark and raise him as their own flesh and blood. From an early age, Clark (Cooper Timberline and Dylan Sprayberry) realises he is different from the other children and when a school bus is involved in a terrible accident he uses his untapped powers to save his classmates. Years later the arrival on Earth of war-mongering Kryptonian General Zod (Michael Shannon) forces Clark to reveal his heroic alter ego but men in power are terrified by Superman's abilities and view him as the enemy rather than mankind's potential saviour.

BEHIND THE CANDELABRA Scott Thorson (Matt Damon) meets choreographer Bob Black (Scott Bakula) who takes him to Las Vegas to enjoy a performance by master showman Liberace (Michael Douglas). At Bob's insistence, Scott abandons rural Wisconsin for the bright lights of the big city, where he is taken under Liberace's wing and encouraged to explore his sexuality. The relationship deepens and Liberace incorporates Scott into his act as an on-stage chauffeur and assistant. But the pressures of fame weigh heavily on Scott and the relationship soon flounders.

THIS IS THE END certificate 15, 1h47m

If the end of humanity was nigh in a heavenly hail of fire as foretold in the Bible, would anyone spare a passing thought for the fate of excessively overpaid Hollywood stars in their plush mansions?

Seth Rogen and Evan Goldberg have and now poke merciless fun at the decimation of the US west coast in this raucous comedy in which the current crop of cinema's bright young things play exaggerated versions of themselves.

The film opens with Rogen excitedly welcoming actor buddy Jay Baruchel to Los Angeles, a city which Jay clearly loathes. And he's less than thrilled at the prospect of attending a house party thrown by James Franco.

With the booze flowing and Michael Cera, of Junio fame, harassing anything in a skirt, Jay puts on a brave face, especially when he encounters arch-nemesis Jonah Hill. In order to escape, Jay heads to a nearby grocery store for cigarettes with Seth in tow.

Then pandemonium ensues. Bright blue beams of light scythe down from the sky and suck up hundreds of people. The buddies race back to the party but Jay immediately wants to leave, telling Seth, "I don't want to die in James Franco's house!"

This Is The End is a potty-mouthed hot mess that scores a decent amount of laughs in between homoerotic male bonding and inevitable toilet humour.

There are undeniably hilarious moments in the ramshackle script but there is also a surfeit of ideas without clear direction. The tone lurches awkwardly from comedy to special-effects laden mayhem and the final reckoning arrives 15 minutes too late.

THE INTERNSHIP certificate 12A, 1h59m

LEADING men Vince Vaughn and Owen Wilson reunite after the global success of Wedding Crashers for this comedy of male bonding and mishaps directed by Shawn Levy.

Watch salesmen Billy McMahon (Vaughn) and Nick Campbell (Wilson) refuse to be downhearted when their employer goes out of business. Billy applies for an internship for them both with Google and the two men are delighted to sail through the first interview with somewhat unconventional answers.

In order to win a position with Google, the buddies are brought together with the other candidates for a series of team challenges to weed out the mental wheat from the chaff. Billy and Nick are paired with misfits

Neha Patel (Tiya Sircar), Stuart Twombly (Dylan O'Brien) and Yo-Yo Santos (Tobit Raphael), and from the very first assignment, the newly named Nooglers fail to impress Mr Chetty (Asif Mandvi), who runs the internship programme.

Indeed, the newly named Nooglers team becomes the prime target for bullying rival Graham Hawtrey (Max Minghella) and his team, who fully expect to win the competition.

In adversity, Billy and Nick rally their troops and by some miracle they battle through the rounds, proving that sometimes the least likely candidates possess the best qualities for the job.

to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
If you can survive potentially difficult, critical or angry moods, especially at the start of the week, then you'll have weathered the worst. Others' moods can set the emotional tone. By retaining confidence in yourself, it means you can overcome problems with your own cheery and upbeat outlook. You can thrive on socially delightful interactions too. Call for more astral advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
Your responses may allow you to come up with, or be the recipient of, fast answers - which doesn't automatically mean they're right. It may take some talent to overcome disruptive episodes and still continue to get things done. However, life at home may compensate by being upbeat and positive, giving you the necessary support exactly when you need it. Call for more advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
There could be some emotional scenes on the home front early on, but with tact and diplomacy, you'll soon get to the heart of the matter. Try not to allow dissatisfaction or annoyance to stress you or affect your general well-being. Improvements may be on the way. By tapping into your intuition, you can overcome difficulties more easily. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
If lines of communication are a problem or people resist new ideas, don't give up hope. Later, they may veer towards your way of thinking. A friend's knack for perceiving subtleties, along with their intuition, could be a source of comfort and inspiration. Saturn turns direct at the end of the week, which may enhance romantic options and creative possibilities. Call for your love scope...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Others' moods may affect your progress. Try to avoid tiffs with a work colleague or friend. Avoid power struggles if at all possible. You may be feeling restless, impatient and anxious for change or simply something new. Rebellious attitudes could encourage subtle tensions. Claim your independence with innovation and friendly charm. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Pay close attention to what others tell you. Vital details could get left out, which may cause problems further down the line. If a friend seems to question your integrity, you'll need to stand your ground. Don't give in if someone has a rant. Socially, you can be in a very good place. Jupiter brings folk your way who can expand business and make the most of romantic options. Call for more advice...

Three-bed semi in village offers best of both worlds

coverproperty

Location Church Mead, Roydon
Category Semi-detached
Additional Three bedrooms, conservatory, family bathroom and separate shower room, integral carport
Guide price £299,950
Agent Haart, 4 West Gate, The High, Harlow. Telephone (01279) 443311

If you're looking for the best of both worlds with a village retreat with easy access into London, then take a look at this fabulous semi-detached house in Roydon.

Church Mead is a short walk from the train station yet there are delightful river walks close by, as well as rolling Essex countryside.

Enter through the pretty front porch with double glazed window and a further door into the lounge with wooden flooring, a feature cast iron fireplace and stairs to the first floor with understairs storage cupboard.

The lounge is open to the conservatory which has tiled flooring and double doors leading out to the garden.

The kitchen is fitted with a range of wall and base units with roll edge work surfaces incorporating a single drainer sink unit, built-in four-ring hob with hood above and oven below, and a built-in dishwasher. There is also space for a washing machine and fridge.

Upstairs, bedroom one has fitted wardrobes along one wall. Bedroom two overlooks the front of the property and bedroom three the rear.

The family bathroom features a panel bath with mixer tap and shower attachment. There is ceramic tiled flooring and a double glazed window to the rear aspect.

A separate shower room also has a window to the rear aspect.

The front garden has a path to the front door. There is also a covered, integral carport to the side of the property with block paving.

The rear garden is fenced and mainly laid to lawn with a decking area and timber shed.

Haart of Harlow can arrange a viewing on (01279) 443311.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

BULLY-proof school lavatories, a rooftop playground and an 'endangered' castle converted into a modern home were among the winners of the recently announced Royal Institute of British Architects awards for 2013.

The toilets, designed with glass walls and pods to reduce privacy, have been hailed a national success after preventing bullies loitering inside and are just one of 52 cutting edge designs honoured by RIBA.

Locally, South Chase at Newhall Be in Harlow and Crowbrook at Ware also won awards.

We can't all employ award-winning architects for our home projects but how do you choose the best person for the job?

Word-of-mouth recommendation is a great place to start or perhaps your local planning department or builder should be able to point you in the right direction.

It is a good idea to contact at least three firms that specialise in the type of work you want done - and ideally on the period of your house. The website www.architecture.com/usanarchitect can help you select a RIBA-registered architect by building project.

Arrange meetings with two or three to discuss the project and get quotes and enquire about their fee structure.

Employing an architect is unlikely to come cheap but they should be able to maximise your investment, so it will be cost-effective in the long run. Also, if your budget is low, you may find that your architect will work at an hourly rate.

Ask to see examples of their previous work and, if possible, arrange to visit finished projects and talk to previous clients.

Choose the one who listens to you, you feel at ease with and who you think will do the best job.

Spacious family home for £835,000

LOCATED off Rye Hill Road on the edge of Harlow and backing onto open fields and adjacent to the Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, this spacious family home is well worth a viewing.

The accommodation is very flexible with three reception rooms and three double bedrooms in the main house, a further fourth bedroom and a separate playroom downstairs and a fifth bedroom/annexe above the garage bloc.

Three of the bedrooms have their own en-suite shower rooms.

There is also a pool house with heated swimming pool.

Centurion Property Services can provide full details on (01279) 417234.

Delightful home for £525,000

THIS delightful detached home is tucked away down a private driveway in a little-known corner of Tye Green Village.

The four-bedroom family home has a high specification kitchen and bathroom.

The accommodation includes many notable features including the inglenook fireplace to the lounge and an en-suite bathroom to the main bedroom.

There is potential to change the double garage and side of the plot to build an annexe. Call Howick & Brooker Partnership on (01279) 418888 to make a viewing appointment.

Good value at £116,500

THIS first floor purpose-built maisonette at Mercers on the Katherines estate in Harlow makes an ideal starter home or investment property.

There is a good sized lounge/diner with French doors leading to a Juliette balcony and a modern fitted kitchen.

On the first floor are two double bedrooms, a large walk-in storage cupboard, modern bathroom and separate WC.

A combination gas boiler supplies the central heating and there is double glazing throughout.

Call Geoffrey Matthew Estates on (01279) 444988 to arrange a viewing.

On a large plot for £485,000

HORSEGROVE Cottage at Pye Corner, Gilston, sits in a large plot with uninterrupted views to the rear. Formerly two farmworkers cottages, this spacious home dates back to around 1880.

There are four reception rooms, a large fitted kitchen and utility, ground floor WC and four generously proportioned bedrooms with a large en-suite and walk-in wardrobe to the master.

There is driveway parking for numerous vehicles as well as a garage and a well-maintained and established rear garden.

Mackay Property Agents has full details on (01279) 600567.

How to Avoid Being Gazumped

You ve made an offer on a property. You might have had to negotiate a bit, but that s OK because this is your perfect home and you can t wait to move in. You then get a rather awkward call from the estate agent to say that unfortunately the seller, (whom you took to be a gentleman) has received a higher offer from another buyer.

It appears your choices are limited as the vendor seems to have you over a barrel. Either you match or exceed the other buyer s offer, or you withdraw from the purchase either way you lose. Even if you do offer more the other buyer could still come back and even exceed that, starting a bidding war with only one eventual winner.

Good agents do not encourage gazumping, but are obliged by law to submit all offers in writing to the vendor, and it is the vendor who decides how to proceed. There's little you can do to repel a determined bidder, but there are ways to reduce the chances of it happening to you.

Firstly, you could offer the full asking price, subject to the property being formally withdrawn from the market. You could go further than this and purchase a formal first right of refusal from the vendor which would include the vendor instructing the agent in writing not to submit any further offers, which overcomes their legal obligation to do so otherwise. Although you might have preferred to pay a little less than the asking price, you could regard the extra as a form of insurance against having to pay more following a gazumping situation.

Only offer to buy when you are in the strongest buying position. Keep the pressure on your conveyancer, have your mortgage arranged and rather rent for a while than allow a linked sale to disempower you.

BY IAIN DOOLEY

BUILDING on the successful formula of space, refinement and generous levels of standard equipment, Skoda's latest generation Superb packs all the familiar qualities that have already convinced so many to sign on the dotted line.

Improvements to the Superb might not be immediately obvious, however. Skoda has focused on the things that matter: cleaning up the engine range, sharpening up the car's looks to mirror that of the Rapid and latest Octavia and adding some welcome extra kit.

Although the cosmetic changes are subtle, out has gone the slightly generic Skoda design, to be replaced by a more sculptured look fore and aft.

Inside the car's cabin it is largely business as usual. Detailed trim and material changes have done a good job of ensuring the Superb's cabin remains a plush environment for all occupants, though.

As before, this Superb's main selling point is its cabin space. Extended in all the right areas, front seat occupants are made to feel special while those in the rear can stretch out thanks to the generous amount of legroom

Fact File

Skoda Superb 2.0 TDI Elegance

from £27,075

ENGINE: 2.0-litre diesel unit developing 170bhp
TRANSMISSION: 6-speed dual clutch driving front wheels
PERFORMANCE: Maximum speed 138mph, 0-62mph 8.6s
ECONOMY: 53.3mpg
CO₂ RATING: 139g/km

offered.

In the influential premium saloon class, rear space is important. You may be transporting clients or paying customers - either way, the Superb's extra inches do much to create an appealing executive ambience. And that's before you consider the car's voluminous boot - seats up or down.

You won't be paying executive prices for the Superb, though. As with the previous generation car, the sums involved are modest for something of this size and opulence. And Skoda is hoping that its generosity in the equipment department will prompt buyers to place the Superb high on their shopping lists, especially as similarly priced rivals offer less space and kit for similar money.

With four models to choose from (S, SE, Elegance and top-spec), the act of making a choice is no longer a simple one as there's a generous spread of standard kit even on the lower-spec models now.

Furthermore, this ensures the car remains competitive in the crowded company car market when value for money is a key driving force in purchasing decisions.

With alloy wheels, air conditioning, Bluetooth, electric windows and mirrors, chilled glovebox and seven airbags forming part of the Superb's core standard kit list, even the entry-level S model is hard to ignore.

SE models gain larger alloy wheels, a touchscreen audio screen and a greater choice of audio inputs, rear parking sensors plus a host of detailed interior and exterior trim accents.

The move up to Elegance sees a big uplift in specification, with xenon headlights, bigger (again) alloy wheels, touchscreen navigation, heated and powered front seats, leather upholstery and a heated windscreen.

Skoda's traditional flagship Laurent & Klement model adds front parking sensors, more leather, heated rear seats, an upgraded audio unit, TV tuner, privacy glass and gloss black cabin trim.

Skoda's generosity also extends to its engine range, inasmuch as greater efficiencies should mean you pay less at the pumps and to the taxman.

Overall performance is, as you'd expect, biased towards refinement and comfort. The big Superb surprises with its agility yet there's no escaping the fact that it's built primarily to cosset its occupants.

The well-weighted major controls and slick actions of the minor switchgear help boost the cabin's already impressive ambience, while the smooth-shifting transmissions - both manual and DSG - cement the car's place in the premium sector.

Just like with the previous incarnations of the Superb, Skoda has again produced a refined, spacious, enjoyable to drive mid-size executive car that, in reality, offers so much more than the established competition.

With a competitive pricing strategy plus innovative technology and good looks, Skoda has a car that continues to live up to its name.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Majestic Four Rivers Cruise

Departs 29 August 2013

Discover the diverse influences of the mighty Rhine, whose strength is drawn from the European rivers that feed it. Whether we're gazing at the Moselle's steep vine clad slopes, Heidelberg's romantic castle on the Neckar or the Main's high-rise
"Mainhattan" skyline of Frankfurt, our cruise pays admirable tribute to this legendary river and her tributaries, which link a variety of landscapes and cultures.

SELF EMPLOYED COURIER WORK IN ESSEX & HERTS.

As one of the UK's largest independent courier companies, we are busy, and getting busier. Therefore we are always looking for good drivers who own their own van and would like a career as a self employed courier.

Experience is not essential as many of our best drivers had never been a courier before, and we can provide all the training you will need.

With our network of agents throughout the country we are often able to obtain return loads after any deliveries you have done, hence maximising your earnings potential. Payments are made weekly one week in arrears which will help with your cash flow which is an issue for many drivers working for other companies.

EDUCATION WELFARE AND HOME SCHOOL LIAISON OFFICERS
Required for September 2013
Part-time or Full-time
Salary £22,776 - £26,028 pro-rata full-time equivalent (equal to Band 4 Local Government)
HEC Ltd contract terms only apply to these posts

The Harlow Education Consortium Ltd (HEC) is the incorporated partnership of all 38 state maintained schools and academies in Harlow.

We are looking to recruit experienced Educational Welfare (EWOs) and Home-School Liaison Officers (HSLOs) to join our team serving our primary and secondary schools.

Our EWOs undertake non-legal, early intervention and prevention work, but awareness of the legal processes is important.

Our Home-School Liaison workers undertake a range of tasks but the most significant part of the work will be with parents and children in the home rather than in the school setting. Experience of both behaviour improvement work with children and parenting support work is therefore desirable.

Each officer will be allocated to a group of schools and a case load made up from referrals by them, but overall supervision and case management is undertaken by a senior manager at HEC and you will be physically based at the HEC premises at Harlow Study Centre.

PLEASE NOTE THAT ONLY 7 MONTH FIXED TERM CONTRACTS WILL BE AVAILABLE IN FIRST INSTANCE, WITH THE INTENTION OF MOVING THESE TO PERMANENT CONTRACTS FROM 1/4/14.

APPLICATIONS BY CV IN FIRST INSTANCE (email or hard copy acceptable) to Chris Fluskey, Manager
BY WEDNESDAY 3RD JULY 2013.

ON YOUR C.V PLEASE INDICATE THE NUMBER OF HOURS PER WEEK YOU WOULD BE AVAILABLE FOR. SHORT LISTED APPLICANTS ONLY WILL BE CONTACTED AND INVITED TO AN INITIAL MEETING AT WHICH FURTHER DETAILS OF THE POSTS WILL BE DISCUSSED.

BUSINESS MANAGER

Full time - required as soon as possible. LGS Band 6, range £40,000 - £50,000 according to experience and qualifications

We acquired academy status almost 2 years ago. We are over-subscribed and fully staffed, and all curriculum areas have a very high standard of resources and facilities. Supported by strong Finance and Personnel teams, there are plenty of opportunities for the Business Manager to be involved in strategic developments and contribute to the academy's successes. You will need plenty of drive and energy as this is a challenging but rewarding role.

Prior experience in an education setting is essential. Accountancy qualifications will be a distinct advantage, eg AAT, CCAB. You will be responsible for all Finance, Personnel and Administration functions, strategic planning, and oversight of school and site facilities.

Essential requirements: Proven strong financial background. Good computer skills including Word, Excel and financial budgetary control systems. Experience of producing and monitoring budgets and end of year accounts, team leadership and managing change are also required.

You must be unflappable, able to deal with emergency situations, flexible and have a "can do" attitude to work coupled with a good sense of humour, and a desire to develop your own career.

CVs are not acceptable - please only use the Academy's Application Form.

Application material is available from www.stewardsacademy.org or telephone as above.

CLOSING DATE: FRIDAY 5th July 2013.

FORMS WILL BE ASSESSED AS THEY ARRIVE, SO PLEASE SUBMIT YOUR APPLICATION AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. PLEASE ENSURE CORRECT POSTAGE

Visits are most welcome by arrangement with The Personnel Officer.

Stewards Academy is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of young people, and is a No Smoking site.

2 x TEACHING ASSISTANTS to support students with complex physical and learning needs

Salary: Local Government Scale : Band 3 points 17-21
Range: £14,733-£15,726 per annum (pro rata)
Actual Salary : £9,472 per annum
Hours: 28 hours per week (term time only)

We wish to appoint an enthusiastic and energetic person to join a strong and successful Learning Support Department in this highly successful and oversubscribed 11-18 mixed comprehensive school that offers a friendly and caring environment.

The post will entail supporting a student with cerebral palsy who has complex needs in mainstream class under the guidance of the teacher. Full training will be given to the successful applicant; this will include manual handling and full ICT training in their communication needs. As this post is specifically linked to funding we have to issue a fixed term contract subject to the student continuing at Newport Free Grammar School.

The Governors of the school are committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children. This appointment will be subject to satisfactory references and a CRB check.

For further information and an application form please phone, fax or email the school. Tel: 01799 540237. Fax: 01799 542189, email: louise.vyse@nfgs.org.uk Alternatively details can be accessed via the school's website: www.nfgs.org.uk Closing date – 8th July 2013

e2v
e2v.com

The e2v success story is set to continue. Will you become a part of it?

We are e2v.

We supply high technology engineering solutions delivering systems, sub-systems and components within the space, aerospace, defence, industrial, science and medical markets.

e2v's High Performance Imaging Solutions (HPIS) division is the world's leading supplier of high sensitivity imaging sensors to the global space sector. Whether equipping ground-based telescopes, star trackers, or providing critical sensing components on space based satellites and demanding instruments, e2v's imaging sensors are crucial to capturing detailed images and enabling new scientific discoveries.

For example e2v's image sensors are used in the Hubble space telescope, on the Mars Curiosity Rover and on many satellites taking regular images of the sun to monitor its activity.

This is where you come in.

Continued growth in our HPIS division, especially in space and astronomy markets, means it is a very exciting place to be currently. These business areas are looking to dramatically grow over the next 3 years and we need to start investing in recruiting passionate and innovative individuals to help us to achieve this goal.

If you have a background in aerospace, industrial or medical engineering, in particular knowledge and experience of integrated systems, from project management to design and manufacture, then we want to hear from you.

It is important you have the desire to develop professionally, become an integral part of a rapidly expanding team and are able to demonstrate the e2v values of integrity, excellence throughout and customer first on a daily basis.

Salaries are highly competitive and the scope for career progression is unrivalled.

Openings exist for:

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.

- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.

- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.

- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.

- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, home and mobile phone numbers and email address. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

30% more forests

No wonder you ♥ paper

Did you know that forests in Europe, which provide wood for making into paper and many other widely used materials, are 30% larger than in 1950? In fact they're increasing by 1.5 million football pitches every year.*

If you love reading your favourite newspaper, isn't it good to know that it's made from natural and renewable wood.

To discover some surprising environmental facts about print and paper, visit www.youlovepaper.info

Naomi's joy after success in English Champs qualifier

NAOMI Harryman has qualified to represent Essex at the English Schools National Athletics Championships.

This was after she secured fifth place in the individual section when representing Essex at the divisional stage of the English Schools Athletic Association Combined Event Championships, held at Boston in Lincolnshire last weekend.

The Harlow Athletic Club member, below, a student at Harlow's St Mark's, was part of the intermediate girls Essex team that won the team competition.

Naomi's individual tally of 3,565 points was good enough for fifth place overall and ensured that she will go to the national finals in September, to be held at the Alexandra Stadium in Birmingham.

"The support I had from the other girls was amazing and I'm very excited. I want to do even better next time!" said Naomi afterwards.

Harlow AC coach Steve Lott said: "This is a tremendous personal achievement for Naomi as she's only just turned 15 and was the youngest member of the Essex team. Her success is testimony to her own hard work and that of her coach, Ken Day."

Meanwhile, 14-year-old St Nicholas (Old Harlow) pupil Zoe Benton performed brilliantly at the Independent School National Championships as she secured a silver medal in the 75metres hurdles in a personal best (PB) of 12.4 seconds.

She followed this up with another PB in the 200m, gaining a bronze medal in 27.9s.

This was in the U-15 girls age group.

In the Year 6 girls 150m final, 11-year-old St Nicholas pupil Millie Slee ran above expectations to place fourth in 22.5s (PB).

In the U-17 girls age group 15-year-old Katie Templeton Knight was fourth in the 1,500m (5:12.5, PB).

Katie followed that up with fourth in the 300m in 47.5s (PB).

Mia Hirons (11) was sixth in the Year 7 1,500m (PB, 5:50).

In the Year 5 80m final Hallie Coppine-Jones was fifth (12.5s).

All girls represented the East Anglia region.

Other results:- Harlow athletes at Watford minors meeting: Hollie McArdell (8) 1st 600m girls 2:05.4; Thomas Whitefield (8) 400m 4th 1:24.5; Anna Coombes (8) 11th 1:39.4.

● RICHARD Chiassaro has been named in the Great Britain team which will compete at the Sainsbury's Anniversary Games at Stratford's Olympic Stadium on July 28.

It might not make up for his disappointment at missing out on the London Paralympics last year after his surprise exclusion from the GB team, but puts him back on the world stage.

He will race in the 200m in London as the event commemorates a year after the Games was held in the capital.

Chiassaro, from Harlow, missed out on a call-up to the GB team for the World Championships which is being held in France from July 19-28.

SELECTIONS for the racing at Harlow Greyhound Stadium tomorrow (Friday June 28):- 7.30 Potty Potter; 7.49 Bathe It Daly; 8.08 Aero Wizard; 8.27 Molly Moo 8.46 Clonlost Snoopy (NB); 9.04 Black Master; 9.22 Sahara Storm; 9.40 Hasty Match; 9.58 Freedom Cait (NAP); 10.15 Foxwood Ace.

Weak batting costs Town dearly

SKIPPER Ashley Alderson was left fuming with Harlow Town's batsmen after they slipped to a home defeat in a low-scoring game against Pegasus & Corringham in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

Town bowled Pegasus out for 143 but were then bowled out for 128 themselves.

Alderson said: "This was a very hard defeat for me to accept.

"We did everything right in the field but our batsmen didn't get the job done."

He added: "We have got out of jail a few times this year with scraping over the line with the bat, but this time it wasn't to be."

Ashley Alderson won the toss and put Pegasus in to bat.

Town had a great start as Ashley Alderson had Ben Francis caught second ball of the game.

Dan Farmer picked up two wickets as Pegasus slipped to 14-3.

Wickets continued to fall with Pegasus opening batsmen Robert Hutcherson sticking around to make 37 after batting sensibly for 40 overs.

A useful 27 came from James Humphrys helping Pegasus reach a final total of 143.

The wickets were shared by Ashley Alderson (2), Dan Farmer (3), Shaun Alderson (2) and Ramya Upadhyay (2).

In reply, Matt Hurley and Pat Yates put on 48 before a misunderstanding saw the latter run out for 21.

Hurley went on to make 37 and regular wickets fell as Town slumped to 96-7 after some very poor batting from the top order.

Ashley Alderson (17) and Shaun Alderson got Town up to 127-7 and were looking like they might get Town over the line.

However, Shaun was bowled by Harry Morgan-James for 12.

Ashley followed in the next over for 17 and the game was all but over as Town then lost another wicket and were bowled out for 128.

Skipper Alderson added: "Hopefully it's a lesson learnt to our batsmen that they need to start taking responsibility and not to give their wickets away if we are going to get promoted this year.

"We will be looking to bounce back against West Essex this Saturday. They have got off to a very good start this season."

HARLOW TOWN II remain top of the 2nd XI division three after they beat Pegasus & Corringham by six wickets at home.

Pegasus batted first and declared on 206-8.

Town's Connor Fussell bowled well taking 3-30 while Vic Goddard (2-37) and Graham Eversden (1-41) bowled tightly.

Steve Pearce finished with a composed and controlled 83 not out.

Biall Ali batted well and he received good support from Ben Eversden who made 31 in a second-wicket partnership of 80.

Town needed 106 to win off 18 overs when Wade Norcott joined Ali and set about chasing the target down.

There was good running between the wickets and some big shots before Ali was out stumped for a well-deserved 90.

Goddard chipped in with 11 before Norcott (55 not out) and Alfie Elston (4 not out) guided Town home.

Meanwhile, HARLOW TOWN III (180-9) lost by one wicket at basement side Benfleet III (184-9) in division three of the 3rd XI league.

Town batted first and slipped to 90-6 before Nick Teale (33) and Joe Elston (21 not out) gave their total respectability.

In reply, a knock of 75 from Ryan Walker and an unbeaten 63 from Benfleet's skipper Jack Scarff clinched victory for the hosts despite Anthony Heath posting his best figures of 7-32. HARLOW TOWN IV (266-6) drew with Hornchurch V (84-6).

Top knocks for Harlow came from Lee Richardson (101) and Kieran Gleeson (61).

The pick of the Town bowlers were Callum Fitzpatrick (13-4-24-1), Tom Wilcox (13-6-18-3) and Paul Smith (4-0-5-2).

CHURCH LANGLEY & POTTER STREET (183) lost to second-placed Molehill Green in division three of the Herts & Essex Cricket League.

Having won the toss and opting to bowl, Street made a poor start until Muddasar Hussain (Jnr) was introduced into the attack. He enjoyed a five-wicket haul in 10 overs, conceding 48 runs.

Molehill scored 213-7.

In response, Street's opening pair of Chandan Katoch (42) and Muddassar Hussain Jnr (48) put on 88 for the first wicket.

No. 3 Fahad Huda contributed 22.

M. Grey and C. Smith picked up four wickets and three wickets respectively for the visitors as Street fell marginally short by finishing on 183, 20 runs short of the desired total.

The second XI beat hosts Takeley by 34 runs in division five. Street batsman Kirk Elliot (40) helped his side reach 170. Other contributions came from W. Morton (33), A. Ali (22) and G. Iyles (21).

Bowlers Pete Jackson and Taimoor took three wickets each as the home side were restricted to 136.

Ardleigh worth it as Harlow stutter

THERE was no lack of fight but Harlow did not make enough runs as they slipped to defeat at Ardleigh Green.

The visitors were up against it after they batted first on a difficult pitch.

Harlow were reduced to 22-3 thanks to a combination of some good bowling by and some poor shot selection.

Rehman Ahmed and Ahmed Khawaja steadied the ship and carried the team to 94-3 before the latter was caught behind off the spin of Ross Poulton for 28.

Harlow then lost Luke Monger and Ramsay cheaply (104-6).

But Ahmed passed 50 and he was ably supported first by Andre Riddell and the skipper Luke Heskett who both made 22.

Ahmed was finally run out in the penultimate over for a superb 83 and Harlow made 193 all out.

Harlow's bowling attack was missing Andrew McGarry and Khawaja was unable to bowl.

The visitors struck early through Haris Afridi who bowled Paul Hurworth for 7.

The visitors recovered before Heskett bowled Thomas Oakley for 16 and had Ayaz Younis caught superbly by a diving Khawaja in the gully as Ardleigh slipped to 50-3.

However, opener Jon Bayfield went on to make 51 before he was caught in the deep by Haris Afridi to leave Ardleigh on 100-4 and them needing 93 off the last 20 overs.

Poulton came in and made 29 and when Jordan O'Donnell was run out for 0, the hosts were 153-6.

However, Ross Smith kept his head and made a brilliant 51 not out. He received excellent support from Alex Cason (26 not out) and the pair guided their team home with seven balls to spare.

Heskett (2-26) and Afridi 3-37 were Harlow's best bowlers.

Heskett said: "This was a brave performance considering the injuries we had and we still managed to collect eight points."

"There were disappointing shots but also some good batting from the lower order - and Rehman's 83 was of the highest quality. We had a chance to win but Roy [Smith] showed his experience and class."

In the second XI division two, Harlow II (195-6; John perry 90) drew at home against Ardleigh Green II (239-3).

Meanwhile, Harlow III (142) went second in their division after they fought back to beat Colchester and East Essex III (102) by 40 runs.

Harlow batted first and collapsed to 70-7 on a damp track.

However, vital knocks from Soulat Ali (53), and Dave Whellams (38) gave Harlow a defendable score.

Whellams then completed a superb all-round display by taking 6-14.

Luck's in for Triffic race

HARLOW Running Club member Jamie Luck completed the Trent Park Triffic Trail 10K race at Enfield at the weekend.

He finished in 57th place out of 351 finishers, clocking a time of 47 minutes and 25 seconds.

Silvester swoops for gold at Eastern Champs

SWIMMING

HARLOW Penguins Swimming Club has a new regional champion.

Silvester Havrillay, above, made an impressive debut at the annual East Regional ASA Swimming Championships.

Held at the University of East Anglia in Norwich and raced over a long course 50 metres championship length pool, the competition brings together the best swimmers the East of England has to offer.

Silvester (10) was competing in three events having previously achieved the tough qualifying times required of this championship.

Swimming in the 400m boys individual medley in his age group, he placed fourth with a time of 6 minutes 28.59 seconds.

In the 200m backstroke he went one place better and took third place and the bronze medal in the final, recording a personal best (PB) time of 2:52.53.

In his final event of the championships he swam in the 200m freestyle where he was the fastest qualifier in the heat stages with a time of 2:36.87.

In the final he swam a perfect race, claiming first place and the gold medal with a PB of 2:35.62.

This crowns an impressive year for the young swimmer having claimed five medals at the Essex County Championships this year.

Competition held in honour of tragic Sohaib

A COMPETITION renamed in honour of Sohaib Shakoor, who tragically died in a house fire with his family in Harlow, was held at Harlow Cricket Club.

The annual kwik cricket festival was won last year by Sohaib, who played alongside his Abbotswold School mates.

This year the tournament trophy was retired and instead the competition will be held each year in memory of Sohaib.

David Stacey (chairman of the Harlow District Primary School Sports Association and deputy headteacher at Church Langley) arranged a special and emotional presentation ceremony in which the existing trophy was replaced in memory of Sohaib.

Some 90 children comprising 11 teams from seven Harlow primary schools competed in the festival.

The following teams took part:

Abbotswold, Church Langley A & B, Fawbert & Barnard, Latton Green, Pear Tree Mead A & B, Roydon, St Albans A & B and St Luke's.

All the teams competed in round robin groups with Church Langley, Fawbert & Barnard, Latton Green and Roydon all making it to the semi-finals.

After some close semis the final was played between Roydon and Church Langley. Church Langley came out on top, scoring 251 for 2 wickets to Roydon's 238 for 5. Church Langley will go on to represent Harlow schools at the Essex county final taking place at Billericay Cricket Club on July 1.

UNITED: Sohaib's old school team, Abbotswold, are seated and standing are festival winners Church Langley (s)

The trophy will remain at Abbotswold for the time being and will at some point be passed back to festival winners Church Langley.

George Gardiner, Harlow Schools Sports Partnership manager, said: "There was a great day's cricket played, followed by a very special presentation at the end of the day and I would like to take this opportunity to thank HDPSSA and particularly David Stacey for coming up with and delivering such a wonderful tribute.

"As always Harlow Cricket club and Harlow College have supported the event so once again thanks to them."

HAC victory sets up winner takes all promotion battle

HARLOW Athletic Club overcame tough conditions to secure enough points to set up a winner-take-all promotion clash with closest rivals Haywards Heath.

The Mark Hall Sportcentre-based club won their Southern Women's League division one match at Watford.

With both teams level on league points they are separated by just 55 match points, a very narrow margin in athletic terms.

There were some excellent performances by members of all clubs made all the more remarkable considering the terrible weather conditions that affected most of the match.

For Harlow, there were strong individual performances in both the Under-15 and senior women's competitions.

In the U-15s, Luan O'Neil made her Harlow debut with a best result of first in the B shot put (5.38metres).

Nicole Chambers and Claudia Andrews made the transition from the youth team and performed admirably. Nicole's best result came in the 100m (14.4 seconds), while Claudia leapt 3.90m but was pipped to first place on count-back in the long jump.

Annabel Owen was second in the B shot and 100m and her sister Hannah's best performance came in the discus (13.11m) to take first in the B competition.

Ellie Williams came second in the A discus and won the 75m hurdles in 13.9s.

In the senior competition, Amy Hunt bettered her PB in the 200m to 28.9s.

Isobel Moss enjoyed a string of first-place finishes, most impressively the 12 minutes 40.5 seconds in the 3,000m.

Rosa Huntington picked up valuable points in both the 100m and javelin.

Katie Templeton-Knight ran a strong 1,500m, winning in 5:13.4.

Naomi Harryman won all her events and in the worst of the weather jumped 5.31m in the long jump – only just shorter than the wind-assisted 5.34m that won her the Essex county title.

Eryn Madsen edged closer to the magic 52 seconds mark in the 300m hurdles (52.6s).

Megan Price made her debut in the 200m and ran a very impressive leg in the 4x400m.

Left-handed Steph Fuller impressed with a hammer throw of 26.97m.

Eleanor Moss also enjoyed success in the throws. She recorded a PB of 30.01m in the javelin.

Dawn Jones made her first appearance since the European Masters competition. She appeared in no fewer than eight events with a best placing of first (1.35m) in the high jump.

Even more pleasing than the individual successes for Harlow was the fact the team was able to field A and B teams in the 4x100m for both age groups and a 4x400m team in the senior event. This feat prompted Ted Cole, a long-serving coach, to comment that the club had so rarely fielded a team in the event that he couldn't remember what a good 4x400m time was!

Commenting afterwards, team manager Steve Lott said: "Conditions were appalling and yet all the women and girls showed tremendous commitment and enjoyed noisy encouragement from the stands!

"The team and I have been so well supported by coaches and parents alike that I must thank them. It would have been so easy to stay away on such a terrible day but they didn't. They, like me, can be very proud of their girls for what they have achieved and, hopefully, what they can achieve."

League table (match points in brackets):- Haywards Heath (500) 11 league points; Harlow (445) 11; Paddock Wood (272) 8; Chiltern Harriers (101) 5; Dorking (113) 3; Swale (61) 3.

Hearn brings World Champs to Harlow

THE UK's best table tennis players will descend on Harlow after the town got the go-ahead to stage what organisers are calling one of the biggest ever tournaments in the history of ping pong in this country.

Promotor Barry Hearn, owner of Leyton Orient FC, decided to get involved with the sport and his Matchroom team have spearheaded the campaign to bring the UK qualifying stage of the World Championships to the renowned BATTs table tennis club, based at the Norman Booth Leisure Centre in Old Harlow.

There will be three days of gripping competition, on July 6, July 20 and August 25, when the best players in Britain will battle it out for a chance to qualify and play for the World Championships crown.

Fred Dove, tournament director at BATTs, told the Star he was relishing the start of this huge event.

Some 80 players will compete in the tournament. "We have some of the very best players in the UK playing in this."

The Batts club is home to several top international stars including Sky Sports commentator Tony West.

"Tony West is one of our players who played in this year's World Championship of Ping Pong event, back in January, and was called upon to assist the Sky Sports commentary team," explained Dove.

Dove explained how he contacted Hearn and convinced him to come on board to revolutionise the sport of table tennis, first established as a Victorian parlour game.

"After reading a newspaper article back in 2010, in which sports promoter Barry Hearn had mentioned that he was also interested in bringing the "old school" game of Ping Pong back to the masses, I decided to contact Barry to discuss the possibilities of doing exactly that," said Dove.

"Now the fight back has taken hold and the result is that Matchroom Sport has recently launched the biggest tournament of its kind seen for decades in this country, "The World Championships of Ping Pong".

This event was held on 5/6 January 2013, at the iconic Alexandra Palace in London, and featured many current and former world class internationals.

"For the 2014 event, players from around the world will be required to qualify by way of national closed Ping Pong qualifying tournaments, or by a series of open events. Preparations are now being made to put on the first Matchroom UK Series qualification events at BATTs table tennis club in Harlow.

"The winds of change blowing through the spheres of politics and sport are about to unsettle the cosy world of table tennis."

GRAEME Auger was a man behind the scenes at Harlow Town FC for several spells, but without hard-working volunteers such as this affable pensioner who spent most of his working life in the office of important Government ministers such as John Prescott, there would be no club. The administrator, who has held various secretarial roles at Blues, has clocked up more than 2,500 non-League games and visited in the region of 500 grounds. Star Sports Editor ALAN SCOTT went to meet a crucial cog in the wheel of a football club.

YOU might have thought his middle name was Jonah, such is the bad luck that long-serving former Harlow Town FC secretary Graeme Auger has bestowed upon the clubs he has covered in administrative roles over the last seven decades.

There have been tales of relegation and financial turmoil, even a club completely folding, as misfortune has followed Auger around during his 54-year career covering non-League football.

And for all of this time football administration has been a part-time hobby for the lifelong bachelor and Norwich City season ticket holder.

He spent his entire working life as a civil servant for the Ministry of Transport, dealing with political heavyweights such as John Prescott and Dr Richard Beeching, although Auger has now retired – but not from his ‘hobby’, in fact he’s busier than ever.

The three main clubs he has served are Harlow, Stortford and the now-defunct Epping Town, and he has hopped from one to the other to be employed in various secretarial roles – usually followed by a spell of misfortune for said club.

But at all these clubs – and certainly by the local press for whom he has studiously provided match reports for over the last 40 odd years – he is held in high regard for his officious work and knowledge of the beautiful game.

“A lot of people say that I am jinxed. Wherever I seem to go something happens,” said Auger. “They used to call me the bailiff. I was regarded as a jinx.”

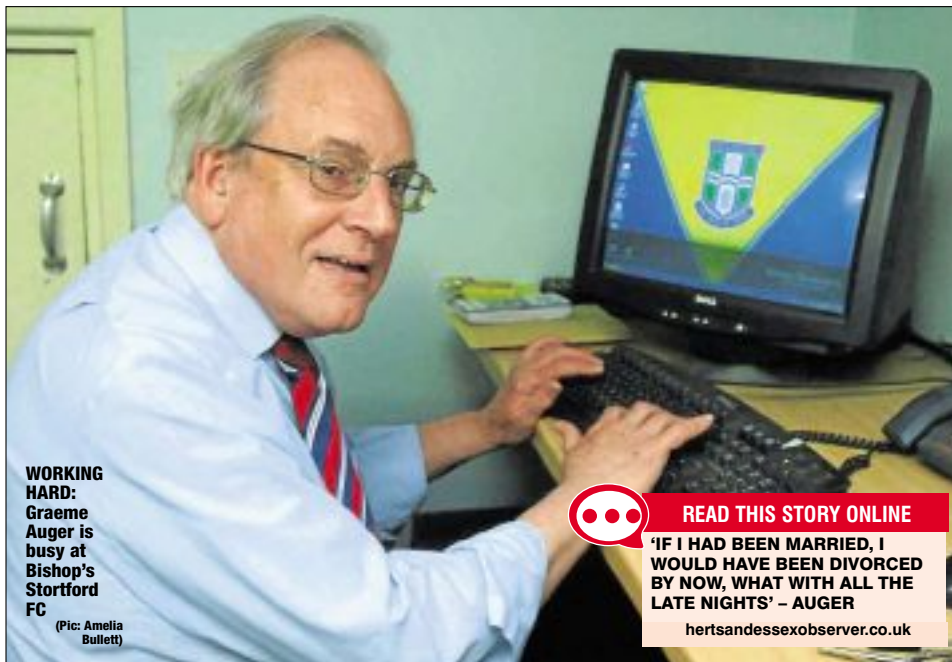

Epping folded just six months after Auger left in 1985.

He switched to Harlow Town – and they were promptly relegated in his first season.

Harlow then went bust in 1991 and did not play at all in the 1992-93 season.

Auger (66) later switched to Bishop’s Stortford – and they were relegated from the Isthmian premier in the 1998-99 season.

He then switched back to Harlow during the 2000s but the jinx struck again as the Hawks suffered relegation from the Ryman premier division in 2008-09 and then hit financial trouble in 2011.

‘IF I HAD BEEN MARRIED, I WOULD HAVE BEEN DIVORCED BY NOW, WHAT WITH ALL THE LATE NIGHTS’ – AUGER

hertsandessexobserver.co.uk

High jinx: The life of a football secretary

This prompted a takeover led by current chief executive and former Leyton Orient player Tom Cunningham and his company Platinum Sports Management.

Auger’s final switch came in 2011 when he moved back to Stortford, his home for the last few years.

However, more trouble was to follow as Blues narrowly avoided relegation in the 2010-11 season and then were forced into the cash-crippling switch to the Blue Square Bet North.

It’s been a rollercoaster ride but Auger has loved every minute of it.

Auger first became involved in the administrative side of the game at Epping in 1965 when he was only 18.

“When I first started watching it was just Saturdays, there were no floodlights,” he explained.

DID YOU KNOW? In 1966 Graeme Auger worked with Dr Richard Beeching in the Ministry of Transport as just over 4,000 route miles were cut on cost and efficiency grounds, leaving Britain with 13,721 miles of railway lines in 1966. A further 2,000 miles were lost by the end of the 1960s.

It was a baptism of fire as he had only just started working as a civil servant a little earlier.

In 1997 he worked with the Deputy Prime Minister John Prescott.

“My first club was Epping Town. I was brought up in Epping.

“I got my first [match] report published in the West Essex Gazette in 1961. That’s the only report of mine that went in untouched.”

After a break from football for a couple of years in the late ‘60s and early ‘70s, there was a reason why Auger came back to Epping.

“I was so appalled by the coverage in the West Essex Gazette that I said to the club that I would come back and write the reports for the local paper. I became press secretary for Epping in the Athenian League,” he said.

Epping won promotion to the Isthmian League division two when Auger was secretary in 1978.

“It seemed to go downhill after that,” confessed Auger.

That first season they finished second from bottom and had to re-apply for election to the Isthmian League. The club dropped down but continued until 1985 when it folded not long after a new chairman had taken over.

Auger had already jumped ship by then after a phone call from Steve Ray at Harlow Town.

Ray was then secretary for the Owls, as they were then known, and he asked Auger to come in as match secretary.

However, as soon as Auger came on board, Harlow were relegated from the Isthmian premier division, and then suffered a ignominy of a second relegation to land back in the Isthmian division two north.

Harlow’s fortunes turned around when Dave Edwards took over as manager.

Edwards led the club to two successive promotions, assisted by Dave Hoddle, the uncle of Spurs legend Glenn Hoddle.

The side was full of top non-League players from Andy Walker, who went on to play for Bishop’s Stortford, in midfield to top strikers Tony Liddle and Jeff Wood (who struck an astonishing 44 goals in the 1988-89 campaign) and skipper Steve Perkins.

After Harlow’s problems ended with them being kicked out of the Isthmian League, Auger returned to Rhodes Avenue but left in October 1993 following the untimely death of Rex Blackman who had been the main football administrator at Stortford.

He returned to Stortford in 1994 and remained there until 1999.

Auger then switched back to Harlow after the arrival of John Goodwin as BSFC chairman.

Finally he returned to Blues’ new home at Woodside Park in 2011, and he has held various secretarial roles since then.

On his career serving the likes of Harlow he adds: “It has helped being single. If I had been married I would have been divorced by now, what with all the late nights,” he joked.

two seasons have been in League One, just two off the Barclays Premier League.

Auger’s favourite manager is Dave Edwards, who had spells at Stortford but most famously at Harlow. “Eddie McCluskey and Ian Allinson (both at Harlow Town) were also good managers.”

He reels off Martin St Hilaire, defender Phil Hopkins, midfielder Dean Parrett and Marc Salmon as his favourite players.

Canons duo step closer to Gleneagles

A DREAM final at the 2014 Ryder Cup venue Gleneagles is up for grabs for amateur Steve Patten and his Canons Brook Golf Club PGA professional Mark Smith in Europe’s biggest pro-am competition – The Lombard Trophy.

Patten teed up a chance to tread the fairways of the PGA Centenary course at the famous Scottish resort between September 3-4 when he won his club qualifying competition.

He and Smith, above, now go to the regional final at King’s Lynn on Monday July 15, where they will play one round of better-ball medal play with the chance to secure one of 16 spots available for the 36-hole grand final.

The tournament attracts more than 50,000 competitors from across Great Britain and Ireland and is now its 29th competitive year, marking a welcome return as title sponsor for Lombard who originally sponsored the tournament from 1995 to 2006.

The PGA National Pro-Am Championship has a total prize fund of £80,000, with the winning professional at the grand final taking home a cheque for £12,000.

Steve Patten, who lives in Harlow, plays off a handicap of 10.

Smith, 36, has been a member at Canons Brook Golf Club for 21 years.

He was the Essex Boys Champion in 1994.

Rockets still looking for win

RYE House Rockets may still be looking for their first win in their Premier League programme but they gave visiting powerhouses Newcastle an absolute fright before being edged out 46-44 in the closing stages.

With never more than four points separating the sides, it was the Diamonds who began with a 5-1 from Christian Henry and former Rocket Stuart Robson in the opener.

Tyson Nelson contributed four full or paid race wins.

Richie Worrall snuck past Mellgren on the second lap to consign the Rockets to a fourth straight defeat, and a fifth consecutive in the League.

Rye are counting down the days when Olly Allen (broken forearm) and Jason Garrity (broken leg) are back in action.

Promoter Len Silver explained: “Olly is likely to be out for another six or seven weeks, and Jason will not be back for at least a fortnight.”

“By now (his broken leg) should have been virtually healed, but the X-ray pictures that I saw showed that it was only 50 per cent knitted.”

● RYE House came up against an in-form Ipswich Witches side in the Premier League on Thursday night and were unable to take home at least a match point for their battling efforts losing 55-35.

‘HTFC could have been as big as Boro’

FORMER Hawks secretary and current life vice-president Graeme Auger believes the club could have followed Stevenage up the divisions with the right management team in place.

A similar size in mass, Stevenage and Harlow are new towns with 80,000 populations.

It seems a long time ago that Stevenage were in the Isthmian premier division (1993-94), the same division as Bishop’s Stortford and a couple above

Harlow looking for promotion to the Conference.

“The Stevenage committee have managed things much better than Harlow. They are similar sort of towns. Harlow have always been mismanaged. Having [the ground at the] Sportcentre did not help them. That ground did not encourage people to go.

“Even in 1984 Stevenage were getting six or 700.”

But Stevenage have pushed on and for the last

GB ace Andy's barb at the Beeb!

WHEN asked what he would have done differently for Great Britain after his third-place finish in the 800m race at the European Team Championships, Harlow's Andrew Osagie quipped to the BBC: "Probably try and win!"

In front of a passionate and noisy home crowd at the Gateshead International Stadium, the Harlow Athletic Club member, was pipped for second place by a matter of centimetres and could have won the race had he not been boxed inside midway through.

He said: "It was always going to be a tough one. There's such a strong field, which is good."

"I put myself in a couple of little boxes. It was quite tough out there. I got in a little gap inside and then got squeezed inside. It was a solid performance."

In a reference to his last place finish in the London Olympics 800m final last year he added: "I'm glad I didn't come last this time."

The race was shown live on BBC2 on Sunday, the 25-year-old came up against one of the world's best at his distance, Poland's Adam Kszczot, who won the race in 1:47.17.

Osagie clocked 1:7.41, but was pipped for second by the Turk Lham Ozbilen.

However, he did secure 10 vital points for Great Britain and also beat highly-rated Frenchman Pierre-Ambroise Bosse, who recorded a time of 1:43 in Rome earlier this year.

He added: "Tactically I am not on it but hopefully come August I will be smiling."

BEST OF BRITISH: Osagie, far right, in action at Gateshead (PA)

Osagie's dream is to be world's best

BECOMING the world's No.1 800metre runner is the sole focus of Harlow's Great Britain star Andrew Osagie – but to do so he will have to usurp World Record holder and London Olympic champion David Rudisha.

Speaking to the Star after his finished third on his debut at the European Team Championships, the Harlow Athletic Club member said: "My mindset is that by the end of my career I want to be number one."

"Anyone who is out there I want to beat regardless of who they are."

"It might be this week, it might be next week but at some point I want to beat everyone."

Osagie (25) is next in action this weekend when he will compete at the Sainsbury's Games in Birmingham.

He said: "My training has been going well. I'm really looking forward to competing at the Birmingham Games next weekend and then at the Olympic Stadium for the London Grand Prix. Hopefully my form will pick up even more by then. I will give it my all as I always do."

The former Burnt Mill School student is working his way towards qualifying for the Great Britain team which will compete at the World Athletics Championships in Moscow in August.

This would represent Osagie's debut at this event.

Osagie clocked 1:47.41 but missed out on second at Gateshead by just a fraction of a second.

He still earned a vital 10 points for GB, who came third in the event behind world powers Germany and Russia.

Asks whether he felt extra pressure putting on a GB vest, Osagie said: "A little bit of pressure isn't a bad thing, you need pressure to drive you on. It means more when you have a GB vest on. That doesn't mean I don't give 100 per cent in every meet – I always want to perform – but at an event like this when it's importance to get points for the team, especially with the home crowd."

"Conditions were really tough out there. I would have loved to have won today – it was a bit frustrating but all in all it was a solid run."

"I let the leaders get away a bit but that's 800m racing. It's strong in Europe at the moment."

"To come third it's not an amazing performance but it's not disappointing."

Although mainly based in Twickenham, Osagie still gets back home to Harlow regularly. His family live in Northbrooks.

"I get back to Harlow quite a lot despite being based in Twickenham to see family and friends – I love it!"
